17 DIE IN BOSTON AIRLINER BLAST

Hub Airliner Crash Kills 17

Seventeen persons, including a Newton mother, her 2-year-old daughter and the latter's nurse, died today in the flaming wreckage of a Boston-bound Eastern Airlines transport, which exploded in midair and hurtled to the ground in a farm field near Cheshire, Ct. So violent was the impact, the plane sheared through two large oak trees and buried its nose and baggage compartment in the earth.

Listed among the victims were Mrs. Charlotte Sterman, of Alderwood rd., Newton, her daughter, Jean, and Barbara Thompson, nurse.

They had boarded the plane at Miami early today and their arrival at Logan airport was awaited by Capt. Hyman Sterman, husband and father, who only recently was discharged from the service.

Listed among them was J. Mitch and officials at M. I. T. said that John D. Mitch, of Milton, professor of civil engineering at the institute, had planned to fly today from New York to Boston.

The remaining 11 passengers had boarded the plane at La Guardia Airport, N. Y., for the trip to Boston.

The tragedy was the first total commercial airline crash in New England since air service first was inaugurated 18 years ago. During that time various airlines had flown more than 500,000,000 revenue passenger miles without loss of life.

The plane was the second section of a flight which left Miami for Boston at 1:43 a. m. today, stopping at Charleston, S. C., and Washington before reaching La Guardia Field.

It took off thence on its ill-fated journey at 10:28 a. m. and was due in Boston at 11:43.

Included in its passenger list were two officers of the armed services, whose names were withheld for the time.

Among papers taken from the smoldering wreckage were Navy leave papers issued to Lt. Scott Faron, USNR, of Arlington, Va.

Another set of charred papers, which bore no recognizable address, was labeled "Property of S. J. Cohen."

The doomed plane had taken off from Miami at 1:43 a. m. today and had stopped at Charleston, S. C., Washington and New York before going into the air for the last time.

The tragedy came with startling suddenness, for the plane crew, maintaining radio contact with New York, had made no mention of trouble.

Five minutes after the takeoff from La Guardia, the plane checked by radio with Hartford, over which it was scheduled to fly.

Contact also was maintained steadily with La Guardia Field until, New York officials of Eastern said, they lost radio contact at just about the time the crash was reported in Cheshire.

The plane was flying above the Cheshire Reformatory when, eyewitnesses said, it seemed to explode in midair.

Woll Says Stop Appeasing Stalin

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—Matthew Woll, AFL vice-president and arch foe of the Communist party, called upon the American government "to stop appeasing Soviet Russia."

"Josef Stalin's foreign program," he said, "is one of diplomatic aggression, and any efforts at appeasement will be as unsuccessful as the attempt to appease Adolf Hitler at Munich."

Steel Rejects; New Plea Made

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Presidential mediation failed today and a strike of 800,000 steelworkers is scheduled to begin at 12:01 a. m. Monday.

Pres. Truman had proposed an increase of 18½ cents an hour in steelworkers' wages.

The CIO United Steel Workers' Union accepted, but United States Steel Corp., through Benjamin F. Fairless, president, rejected with the assertion that Steel reached a limit when it offered a 15-cent hike.

Despite the Steel Corporation's refusal, Pres. Truman publicly appealed again to the company to avert a nation-wide strike by accepting his compromise wage proposal.

"I still hope, and on behalf of the great mass of American citizens, strongly urge, that my suggestion of settlement be adopted by the United States Steel Corp.," the President said.

"A strike in the steel industry will be felt in practically every major industry in the United States. It will hamper our reconversion effort. It will stall our attempts to establish a sound econ-

Pilotless Plane Flying Wild Over New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—A pilotless radio-operated plane, out of control of authorities, was reported by the Coast Guard to be flying wild at 85 miles an hour over the New York metropolitan area this afternoon.

The Coast Guard, in alerting authorities, said the plane last was seen out of control off Cape May, at the southern end of New Jersey, and was headed toward Long Island and might crash in that area.

Hub Meat Fades; Two Disputes End

The labor situation in New England brightened considerably today, as 34,000 textile workers and telephone operators laid aside strike threats and accepted wage increases totaling $8,500,000 a year. Announcement from the CIO Textile Workers' Union of America said the American Woolen Co. signed a new union contract for a wage increase of 15 cents an hour and a 75-cent minimum for approximately 22,000 workers. The increases will total $6,000,000 annually. Wage increases of from $2 to $5 a week for 12,000 operators in the traffic division of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., effective Jan. 20, were announced by company officials. The increases will total $2,500,000 a year.

Waiting Washington developments in their wage stalemate were the 2000 striking meat packers, as all meat supplies in the Greater Boston area were dwindling, with the real pinch expected next week, if the work and supervisory employes of the Handy Co. were living in the factory to protect 1700 live hogs and 1,000,000 pounds of meat.

Woolen textile workers hailed the granting of their raise by the American Woolen Co. as a pattern which other big companies now engaged in dispute with electrical, steel and meat-packing workers might follow.

Meanwhile, a wave of optimism swept through Lynn and other communities where striking electrical workers maintained their picket lines outside General Electric and Westinghouse plants.

The optimism arose from an offer by Albert J. Fitzgerald, national president of the Electrical Workers' Union, to turn the demand for a $2-a-day wage increase over to a board of arbitration. His statement was made in Washington at a congressional committee hearing on President Truman's fact-finding legislation.

Curley Jury Still Unable to Agree

By FRANK REILLY

Boston Evening American Staff Reporter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—The jury considering the mail fraud case of Boston's Mayor Curley and two other defendants was still deliberating in the jury chambers late this afternoon, more than 24 hours after the case was submitted for decision.

The nine men and three women recessed for luncheon at 1:01 p. m. and, after a leisurely stroll through streets in the vicinity of the courthouse, resumed deliberation at 1:58. During the short walk they were escorted by deputy United States marshals.

Reports were current in the court the jurors would be dismissed by the judge if they fail to arrive at a verdict by nightfall. There were indications the government would file the case in such an event rather than call for a new trial.

Mayor Curley, with his son,

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—Government and defense counsel in the Curley trial were summoned to the Lobby of Judge James M. Proctor at 3:05 p. m. today for a conference and at 3:26 p. m. Mayor Curley and his two fellow defendants were instructed to take their seats in the courtroom.

Leo, and former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly, were in the courtroom this morning. Later Curley left for his Congressional office on Capitol Hill when it was apparent there was little hope for an early report from the jury.

When he left the court he was accompanied by Transit Comr. John T. Murray of Boston.

The jurors were excused at 10 o'clock last night by Judge James M. Proctor after the foreman reported he did not believe a verdict could be reached until the jurors had completed reading of certain documents they had requested.

These included a copy of the 50-minute instructions Judge Proctor had given them yesterday and a transcript of the testimony of a Worcester, Mass., contractor regarding a meeting with Curley at Boston's Copley-Plaza Hotel.

The Boston mayor was in the courtroom when the jury was excused for the night.

In addition to the mass of evidence which the government spent four weeks in presenting, the jurors were directed to consider the guilt or innocence of each defendant on each count of the indictment.

Of the original 16 counts, 14 each remained against Curley and James G. Fuller and six against Donald Wakefield Smith.

Smith, Fuller and Curley were former officials of Engineers Group, Inc.

Girls' Screams Rout 2 Gunmen

Two attractive Roxbury sisters were threatened early today by two gunmen who broke into home and demanded that the girls accompany them on a trip to Rhode Island.

The armed youths, frightened by the screams of Florence Joslyn, 23, of Columbus ave., fled just before police arrived.

The break into their home was reported to Roxbury Crossing police by Florence's sister, Mrs. Edith Bartsch, 25. She said one of the youths, about 26, was known to her and her sister, and had been creating a disturbance outside their home for more than an hour.

This man, accompanied by a friend, about 23, finally broke into the house and threatened Florence with a revolver.

JOHN LODER AND HEDY LAMARR
Film Stars Separate After Auto Accident Quarrel

Hedy Says Hubby Left On Day Son Was Hurt

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Copyright, 1946, Los Angeles Examiner. All Rights Reserved.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18—Another very surprising separation was revealed today when Hedy Lamarr confirmed reports she and John Loder have been living apart almost two weeks. Hedy, often called Hollywood's most beautiful woman, and her actor husband parted the day little James Markey, her six-year-old son, was injured in an automobile accident. He's still in the hospital, in serious condition. "We had a quarrel," Hedy told me. "I suppose I was very nervous. I love little Jamsie so dearly. I don't want to be unjust to John, but I was very upset when my son was hurt.

"I'm terribly, terribly hurt at my husband for leaving home. I have no idea where he is living.

"He told me if I wanted to get in touch with him he would be at our house at certain times during the day to see Denise, our baby, but that he intended to live elsewhere.

"I had hoped," went on Hedy, "that it was just a misunderstanding. I was very sick with flu for two weeks, then immediately went into my picture, 'Strange Woman.'

"I get up very early in the morning and work late, so I haven't seen or talked to John since he left home. His visits to the baby have all been while I was at the studio."

Loder, who came here from England, married Hedy May 27, 1943. Their daughter is nearly a year old.

They seemed very happy to outsiders although John has worried over his career while Hedy has been one of the top stars. He hasn't kept pace with her, and although he has had some good acting parts has never been a star.

Each has been married three times. Loder, who has a grown son, was married in England and divorced from Micheline Cheirel, a French actress. They had one child, a girl.

Hedy, who came here from Vienna about nine years ago, was the wife of Fritz Mandel, munitions magnate. After her divorce from him she married Gene Markey.

Hunt for Man Named 'Sherman' In Degnan Case

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (INS)—Police searched today for a man identified only as "S. Sherman," the name found on a handkerchief attached to a wire noose which authorities believe was used in the murder of Suzanne Degnan.

The new clue was described by police as "the most important development" thus far in the case of the 6-yearold girl who was kidnaped from her home, strangled and dismembered.

A laundry mark on one of two handkerchiefs attached to the wire noose indicated, police said, the man was a serviceman or recently discharged from the Army. The handkerchief bore, in addition to the name, the numbers 3168.

Army's Sixth Service Command officials said the Army follows the practice of marking a soldier's laundry with the last four digits of his serial number after the initial of his last name.

Five men named Sherman, all living in the vicinity of the kidnap scene, were questioned, but none held.

Police also announced they were holding a 19-year-old youth found loitering around the Degnan home. The youth said he was a medical student.

Troopship Breakup Fear of Navy Now

Fear the troopship Henry Baldwin, carrying 589 veterans, will break up in the mountainous seas off Cape Race was expressed today by a spokesman, who said the Navy had expressed official "worry" over the fate of the vessel.

Last radio report received from the disabled Liberty ship said she was about 110 miles southeast of Cape Race and making from two to four knots in an angry sea whipped by a 60-knot gale.

The ship first called for aid Tuesday. At that time she was 300 miles off Cape Race and reported the after deck plates had cracked and she was listing slightly but not shipping water.

The Navy also reported today the rescue tug Paiute, which with the Coast Guard cutter Modoc had been sent to the aid of the Baldwin, was herself in trouble. The Paiute radioed that the heavy seas had smashed a propeller shaft and the tug has left the stricken vessel and is attempting to make Argentia, Nfld.

The Modoc attempted to put a line aboard the Baldwin but found that the water was too rough.

The cutter is now standing by the disabled troopship, but is unable to transfer any of the soldiers because of the huge waves.

The Navy previously announced the Baldwin would make port by Saturday but today's announcement said, "No predictions."

UNO Unit Sees Plymouth Site

Visiting committeemen seeking a site for the world capital of the United Nations Organization today drove through the winding wooded roads of the Blue Hills and along the South Shore to historic Plymouth, expressing delight nad fascination at what they saw.

Standing atop Chickataubut Hill, with its magnificent view of the surrounding countryside and the City of Boston to the north, Maj. K. G. Younger, British member of the committee, looked toward Ponkapoag and said:

"Imagine having the world's capital in Ponkapoag!"

He and all members of the committee were interested in the old Indian names.

The committee made the tour in three buses, accompanied by five state police cars. All eight vehicles were equipped with interphone communication and Dr. George Holmeh Perkins, director of regional planning at Harvard, acted as guide.

After examining the Blue Hills reservation, Ponkapoag and the surrounding country, the delegates journeyed to Plymouth, where they were met by John Armstrong, chairman of the selectmen, and a group of civic leaders.

Before looking at possible sites they went to the waterfront and were shown Plymouth Rock, half submarked by the tide. Dr. Stojan Gavrilovic of Yugoslavia, chairman of the UNO committee, commented:

"It is amazing that so small a rock should be of such vast historical importance."

The 40 square mile area under consideration in the Blue Hills has a "wasp-like" contour, it was explained, with a three-mile wide corridor through which a state highway runs. Dr. Gavrilovic said that the General Assembly in London would have to approve any site bisected by a highway or where displaced persons were involved.

Dr. Gavrilovic said the committee in submitting its recommendations—probably six in number—would only offer the results of its inquiry. Hyde Park, N. Y., where the Roosevelt estate is located, will be among them.

In its search for interim facilities, the committee has inspected several hotels, school and business buildings in Boston.

Four hotels, recently vacated by the armed forces and capable of accommodating 1000 persons, have been offered in entirety, and two others agreed to furnish quarters for 500, thus meeting the requirements of the UNO.

Other facilities visited included the quarters of the Army's First Service Command, Symphony Hall, Horticultural Hall and the High School of Commerce.

On returning from Plymouth, the committee expects to remain in Boston tomorrow, Sunday and Monday; to visit Worcester and Providence Tuesday, remaining in Providence Tuesday night and Wednesday, returning to Boston

Byrnes Implies Big 3 Keeps Last Say on All Pacts

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sec. Byrnes today announced assurances by the United States, Russia and Great Britain that proposals of the smaller European nations would receive the "fullest consideration" by the great powers in drafting European peace treaties.

Byrnes released the text of an exchange between the American and French governments. His answer was on behalf of the three great powers which agreed at Moscow several weeks ago that, in effect, the United States, Russia and Britain would write the treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

The treaties are first to be drafted by the powers, submitted to a peace conference of 21 former belligerents at Paris in May, then put into final form by the big powers for ratification by all nations.

By implication, Byrnes' letter made it clear the final say on the peace treaties would rest entirely with the big powers. The only treaty for which France will share full responsibility will be that with Italy. Otherwise, France will participate only in conference discussions of other proposed pacts.

Luxury Tax Cut Urged in Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Rep. Knutson (R.) of Minnesota called today for a new 1946 tax cut of $600,000,000 by reducing wartime excise levies on such so-called luxuries as liquor, luggage, jewelry, furs and cosmetics.

Scores Flee, 4 Firemen Hurt in S. Boston Blaze

Scores of families in the thickly-settled tenement district around West Broadway and C st., South Boston, were driven from their homes today as the area was threatened by a four-alarm fire which raged through the Congress Hall building.

Flames burst through the roof of the building and shot from windows, threatening to spread to neighboring structures. At one point firemen were ordered from the building and from ladders and fire towers when the walls of the structure threatened to collapse under the weight of tons of gallons of water.

Two firemen were injured, requiring hospital treatment, while acting Fire Chief Napeen Boutillier and his aide, Edward Lynch, received medical aid at the scene for injuries suffered when the chief's car was demolished in a crash while racing to the fire.

Through the hours while all available men and apparatus battled the spectacular blaze, Mrs. Catherine McGlone, 85, a bedridden cripple, remained in her home next door to the burning building.

Firemen carried hoselines through her house while the aged invalid remained under care of a City Hospital doctor, who urged that she be allowed to stay unless it became absolutely necessary to move her.

A rescue crew stood by ready to take her out on a stretcher if the flames ignited the house.

A Boston Elevated motorman, John J. Hannigan, 50, of St. William's st., Dorchester, discovered the blaze while driving his City Point street car down Broadway at 2:22 a. m. Halting the car, he instructed the 18 passengers to rush through the tenement district in Athens st., behind the Congress Hall building, to awaken sleeping residents. Hannigan sounded the first alarm from Broadway and B sts.

The burned building housed a barber shop, market and tavern on the first floor. The upper stories were occupied by the Scenic Art Studio, a firm which paints theatrical designs.

The acting fire chief said the fire had a good two-hour start before it was discovered and apparently started on the second floor. He estimated damage unofficially at $25,000 and said he would ask an investigation by the state fire marshal's office.

Forced from their home at Athens and C sts. were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fratolilo, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fratolilo; their daughter, Anna, and their grandchildren, John, 2 months, and Joseph A. Fratolilo, Jr., 2.

Fire Lt. John Sullivan of Burt st., Dorchester, suffered a punctured foot, and Ladderman Charles Bzylianski of London st., East Boston, suffered a lacerated right hand. Both were treated at Carney Hospital.

Iran Moves to Place Row With Russia in UNO's Lap

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Iranian delegation to the United Nations general assembly today took the first concrete steps to bring the explosive Iranian-Russian dispute before the world security council as Soviet delegates maintained complete silence on the issue.

Andrei Gromyko, acting chief of the Soviet delegation, making the first major Russian speech before the assembly, ignored the Iranian question, which was causing serious concern among United Nations leaders.

Shortly before Gromyko took the floor, Seyed Hassan Taquizadeh, chief of the Iranian delegation, confessed with the executive secretary of the assembly on what Taquizadeh called "technical arrangements" for placing Iran's complaints before the security council.

Some of the Iranian leader's associates had indicated earlier that the case might be filed today or tomorrow, but they said they were uncertain over where and how to file it. Presumably this was the question taken up with Secretary Gladwyn Jebb by Taquizadeh.

The Iranian diplomat said only that "technical arrangements" were discussed.

Gromyko, meanwhile, told the assembly that the future peace of the world depends upon the unity of the big powers and warned against any efforts to cut down their authority by revising the charter of the UNO.

He also strongly supported big-power plans to give the security council control of atomic energy problems.

Charge Against Parole Board Surprises Bullock

Matthew W. Bullock, chairman of the State Parole Board, today expressed surprise at the statements attributed to Mrs. Ruth Evans O'Keefe of Lynn, who submitted her resignation from the board to Gov. Tobin after charging the board had adopted a hard and arbitrary attitude toward women prisoners.

In a statement issued today Bullock cited the parole board's action in releasing 157 women prisoners out of a group of 182 who appealed to the board during the last six months of 1945. He said eight cases were postponed for further consideration, and the remainder were delayed so that the women might be given further training at the institutions.

During the same period, Bullock said, 12 of a group of 26 women defective delinquents were released after their cases had been taken up by the board.

In referring to the case of a defective delinquent woman mentioned by Mrs. O'Keefe in her resignation, Bullock said:

"It is not as simple as stated in the press. The woman, who is 41 and single, has been a problem for the greater part of her lift.

"After much work had been done to adjust her in the community, she was committed to the Wrentham School for the Feebleminded in 1932 and remained for nine years. During the time she was placed in foster homes, but her conduct was such it was necessary to return her to the shool."

Bullock said in 1941 because she had been "stubborn, defiant, quarrelsome and generally uncooperative" she was transferred to the defective delinquent department at Bridgewater. She was released on parole, Oct. 5, 1943 and was returned in Dec., 1944 for violation of parole, when it was determined she was pregnant."

The parole board chairman said each member of the board considered each case on its merits and decided it to the best of his or her ability.

In her letter of resignation to Gov. Tobin, Mrs. O'Keefe stated that she was "totally unwilling to serve with men and women who consider the birth of a child out of wedlock an absolute obstacle to parole."

"It is not the birth of the child," she said, "which is a punishable offense, but rather the illicit relations."

Gov. Tobin said he would meet Mrs. O'Keefe at his office today to discuss the case with her.

Barnes Backs Welansky Plea to Cut Prison Term

In a surprising and virtually unprecedented move, Atty. Gen. Clarence A. Barnes today appeared before the appellate division of the superior court in support of the petition of Barnet Welansky, Cocoanut Grove operator, for reduction of his 12-to-15-year prison term.

Barnes told the three superior court judges hearing the appeal that Welansky "got the extreme penalty and I don't think this man should be made to suffer further."

Welansky was imprisoned April 15, 1943, for manslaughter in connection with night club fire which took a toll of 498 lives.

Barnes' endorsement of the petition came as a surprise since his predecessor, former Atty. Gen. Robert T. Bushnell, personally conducted a vigorous prosecution of the charge against Welansky. Barnes was not a public officeholder at the time of the trial.

In his appeal for cutting the sentence, Barnes said:

"Another man, Samuel Rudnick, was fully as guilty and he got two years. The building inspector, a fire lieutenant and others were let off. There should be a revision and this man admitted to parole."

When Barnes said Welansky should be admitted to parole, Judge Harold L. Williams interrupted:

"You are not the parole board, Mr. Attorney-General."

Continuing after a pause, Barnes said he was "merely expressing my opinion." He said Welansky had architects and contractors do the work, and "I know they had a mayor and a fire commissioner, but I can't understand why the others got off."

Judge Walter L. Collins pointed out that Rudnick was convicted of conspiracy, "a misdemeanor, this is manslaughter."

Barnes admitted he was "not fully" posted on the indictments and your honors would know more about it than I."

Barnes made his appeal after Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle, who was associated with Bushnell in the prosecution, told the judges:

"The district attorney makes no recommendation for revision of sentence."

The jurists took the petition under advisement upon completion of a recital of the case by Atty. Herbert F. Callahan, counsel for Welansky and his former law partner.

In a husky voice, due to a cold, Welansky made an impassioned plea. Several timse he was forced to halt when he was overcome by emotion and his eyes filled with tears.

"I know if I had been there in the club that night, it would never have happened," Welansky said.

He declared all alterations were under the direction of Reuben Bodenhorn, decorator, and Rudnick. Bodenhorn was cleared of charges.

"They did all the necessary work and I never curtailed them in any way," Welansky said.

"The materials used were like those used in any night club and were all supposed to be fireproof," Welansky continued. "Inpectors were always coming in and out, fire inspectors, building inspectors and ABC inspectors. There was only one complaint, to my knowledge. That was in 1936, when a door in the basement was corrected.

"The last alteration made was at the time I got sick. A building inspector was in every day. I was spending 20 hours a day down there. But at the time Icollapsed I had been doing some work for the rationing board."

He described the doors and exits. He said the back door was kept locked, because employes might go out and drink around the corner and come back under the influence.

He said he feared a robbery and a girl down there might have as much as $500, "so the back door was ordered by me closed after 6 o'clock."

"A week before the fire an inspector went in and said that everything was o. k. At my trial this inspector took advantage of his constitutional rights and refused to testify.

"I never intended to, and did not knowingly, violate any laws. My place had the best reputation of any night club in Boston. The newspaper headlines all put me in a false light and without foundation. If I had run the Grove the way they wrote about it and talked about it . . .

"I took it over at the time of prohibition. I never allowed any liquor to be sold there during the prohibition era. The reason I had to struggle was that no liquor was allowed there until it was legal.

"I had a good reputation as a lawyer, I thought, and also in the community. But at twenty minutes past ten, I'm just another fellow who's a bum, and they were spreading slander about me.

"Certainly there was a lot of grief for the families of those who were in there. I had a lot of friends. They died in there. I had a nephew in there and he was the last one out of Melody Lounge. I don't know how he got out, but he got out unscathed."

Welansky then raised the possibility that sabotage was involved in the disaster. Pointing out "there was plenty of sabotage at that time," he said a man was arrested later for attempted arson in a night club and the suspect admitted having been in the Cocoanut Grove at one time.

"I was sentenced to 12 to 15 years and now I am doing that at a time when I thought I would be retired," he said.

Referring to catastrophies which followed the Grove fire, he said there was either no prosecution or the defendants were given light sentences.

"There was a wave of hysteria at the time of my trial," he said. "I question whether I would be convicted now, and if I had been tried before some judges I would have got a directed verdict."

Welansky was sentenced by Judge Joseph L. Hurley for "wanton, reckless failing to fulfill his duty, and to use reasonable care."

He was disbarred on Feb. 1, 1945, by order of Judge Hurley. An appeal from that ruling is pending in the Supreme Court.

"Not that, Dearest—that's the trophy we won for being the happiest married couple of the year!"

Somerville Man Killed by Auto

Earl B. Shaw, 52, of Jackson rd., Somerville, was instantly killed early today while crossing Main st. in Sullivan sq., Charlestown. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Massachusetts General Hospital. Police said he was hit by an automobile driven by a Winchester woman.

Noted Santa Dies

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 18 AP) — Salvation Army Capt. William Irvin Day, 80, once called the best-known "Santa Claus" in the nation, is dead.

Day played the role of St. Nick for hospital patients, orphans and state convicts more than 1100 times prior to 1937. One Christmas he acted the part 14 times in one day.

OSBORNE E. BROWN

O. E. Brown, Hub Ad Expert, Dies

Osborne Edward Brown, for more than 15 years promotion manager of the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser, and widely known in the advertising profession throughout the nation, died early today after a long illness.

His home was at 801 Chestnut st., Waban. His 53d birthday would have come next week.

His widow, the former Agnes Dowd, and one daughter, Cynthia, 16, a student at Brimmer-May School in Boston, survive.

Brown was affectionately known as "O. E." to a legion of friends in the newspaper and advertising fields. Before joining these papers he was advertising manager of C. Crawford Hollidge, Ltd. Earlier he was employed as advertising executive by C. F. Hovey Co., and by Scott Furriers, Inc.

A veteran of the first World War he was a member of Boston Newspapermen's Post, American Legion.

Funeral services will be held from the home of his brother-in-law, Com. Thomas F. Dowd, 866 Beacon st., Newton Center, on Monday at 8:15 a. m. A requiem high mass will be celebrated at 9 a. m. at St. Phillip Neri Church and burial will be at Newton Cemetery.

Cotter Rules Striking Vets Entitled to Soldier's Relief

A ruling by Francis X. Cotter, state commissioner of veterans' services, that striking war veterans are entitled to soldier's relief was disclosed today by Norman MacDonald of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Ass'ns.

MacDonald said the decision was contained in a letter sent to all local soldier's relief commissioners in the state.

"Without discussing the merits of the question, this may result in an immediate tax increase of as much as $6," he told the legislative commission on postwar problems.

Cotter's decision said applicants must qualify on the basis of need, settlement in the community, and have an honorable discharge. Veterans of World War II must have lived in the State at least one year prior to entering the service.

"This ruling puts real estate taxpayers in the strike business," MacoDnald charged.

Earlier, MacDonald urged the State boost its share in local veterans' relief costs by 40 per cent to ease the effect on local taxes.

Hershey Asks Draft Continue After May

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (INS)—Selective Service Chief Lewis B. Hershey let Congress know today he wants the draft continued after May 15, but Sen. Johnson (D.) of Colorado, declared it is "going out the window" then.

Hershey told a special Senate committee investigating demobilization that unless selective service continues through July the Army will lose up to 80,000 replacements now deferred for schooling.

Johnson, who heads the committee, accused the War Department of "misleading" overseas GIs by blaming Congress for the replacement shortage.

Hershey proposed that:

Congress extend the draft now. The Army and Navy lower physical standards for inductees.

Congress amend the draft law to permit reinduction of men who have served for short periods—perhaps up to 18 months.

Johnson declared responsibility for obtaining replacements rests with the War Department and President Truman. He added:

"What Congress did was to give you the country's manpower.

"I want to establish the fact without any quibbling that the President and the War Department have sufficient authority to get replacements if they want to."

Hershey agreed the President has full power to order drafting of men up to 45. He said that even men with five or 10 years of service could be reinducted, but that public opinion probably wouldn't stand for it.

He said War Secretary Patterson had concurred, "perhaps reluctantly," in the limitation of the draft age to 26, which President Truman announced on V-J night would yield 50,000 men a month.

Confucius-Confusing Trial

YOKAHAMA, Jan. 18 (AP)—Eighth Army headquarters reported today the trial of Shin Ree-sai, Chinese puppet foreman of a labor camp on the Jap island of Hokkaido, was proceeding in a lively atmosphere. Shin is charged with the deaths of three countrymen.

The testimony in Chinese is being translated into Japanese and then into English. A supply of saucers and a hammer are beside the witness stand. When a Chinese witness takes an oath, he smashes a saucer with the hammer.

It's an old Chinese custom. The witness does not feel bound to tell the truth until he has broken the saucer.

Shin shouted denials at witnesses who testified they saw him mistreat workers. The witnesses shouted back. M. P. guards stepped in several times to restore order. The Chinese were brought in by the Japanese to work in coal mines in Hokkaido.

All 7 Doolittle Avengers Jailed

SHANGHAI, Jan. 18 (AP)—An American prosecutor today reported the arrest of the seventh and final important Jap suspect in the execution of three Doolittle fliers and asserted the evidence is so conclusive their trial may require less than a week.

"It shouldn't take long to try these Japs," said Lt. Col. John H. Hendren, Jr., Kansas City.

The seven Japs—two lieutenant generals, a colonel, a major, two captains and a lieutenant—are charged with complicity in the execution of three of the fliers who bombed Tokyo in Doolittle's famous raid.

Southern Dems Tie Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP) —Southern Democratic Senators organized today to block action on a bill to establish a permanent FEPC and promptly tied up Senate business through parliamentary maneuver.

Immediately after the opening prayer, a roll call showed 53 Senators present and majority leader Barkley of Kentucky made the customary request for unanimous consent to dispense with the reading of the journal.

Sen. Overton (D.) of Louisiana objected. He said he had noted a number of errors and desired to correct them.

The clerk began reading the parliamentary log at 12:15 p. m. droning on and on.

This was part of the strategy worked out at a conference before today's session.

Tag in Reverse

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 18 (AP) —The Rev. Walter Kerr was stopped by a traffic policeman and identified himself as a pastor of the Central Methodist Church.

"I'm a Methodist," said the cop, but added he was not a member of an Austin church.

So the minister gave him a ticket—an application for transfer of membership to Kerr's church. The officer signed on the dotted line.

And tore up the traffic ticket

Pupils Back After 'Shorter Day' Strike

CHEVY CHASE, Md., Jan. 18 (AP)—Pupils at Leland Junior High School were back at their desks today after some of them staged a strike for a shorter school day and longer lunch period.

About 75 eighth-graders walked out after serving notice they were dissatisfied with 9 to 3:30 sessions while their neighbors in Washington have a 30-minute shorter day.

Pearl Probers Vote Down Churchill Call

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—A Republican proposal to call Winston Churchill as a witness was rejected, 6 to 2, today by congressional Pearl Harbor investigators in a session that brought these other developments:

An assertion by Adm. Kimmel contentions he had been appointed commander-in-chief of the fleet in 1941 because he was a "friend of President Roosevelt and a Kentucky Democrat" were "misrepresentations and lies."

Testimony by Kimmel President Roosevelt had sided with him at a June, 1941, White House conference against any further transfer of warships from the Pacific to the Atlantic fleets.

Kimmel's refusal to draw any conclusion when Rep. Clark (D.) of North Carolina asked him if "high officials here in Washington on down "to the Army lieutenant who disregarded a radar warning of Japanese planes approaching Pearl Harbor hadn't "muffed the situation and let the Japs outsmart them."

Kimmel said his acquaintance with Roosevelt began when he served as an aide to Mr. Roosevelt while he was assistant secretary of the navy, for 10 days in 1915.

Questioned by Sen. Lucas (D.) of Illinois about his statement to the Roberts investigating commission four years ago that it was recognized the fleet was vulnerable to attack in Pearl Harbor, Kimmel said the decision to keep the fleet there had been made before he took command. He added:

"Nobody said to me, 'I will appoint you if you keep the fleet in those waters.' There were no conditions attached to my appointment as commander-in-chief of the fleet."

Sen. Lucas said there had been rumors at the time Kimmel was "a close and intimate friend of the President" and that Mr. Roosevelt "jumped over 46 admirals of senior grade to give you the job."

Kimmel said he had heard that, but thought somebody else ought to answer it.

The action against calling Churchill came before questioning of Kimmel was resumed for the fourth day.

The vote on Churchill came on a motion of Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan to invite the former British government leader, now vacationing in Florida, to appear at a time that suited his convenience and that of the committee.

Ferguson wanted to have Churchill tell what he knows about any agreement with the late President Roosevelt for parallel action on the part of Britain and the United States before the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

Six Democratic members of the committee voted solidly against Ferguson's motion.

The motion was supported by Ferguson and Rep. Gearhart (R.) of California. Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine and Rep. Keefe (R.) of Wisconsin voted "present."

Police Nab 2 Gunmen After Wild Chase

Two of four gunmen who exchanged shots with police early today, during a wild chase through East Boston and Revere, were captured near the Suffolk Downs race track and were to appear in today's lineup at headquarters while search was being continued for their accomplices.

The quartette is believed to be the bandits who since a week ago Saturday, have held up cars in various parts of the city and robbed the occupants. All of them police were informed, were armed.

Austria to Eject 2 Hapsburg Arrivals

VIENNA, Jan. 18 (AP)—The ministry of interior said today two members of the Hapsburg family which once ruled Austria entered the country Tuesday and measures were being taken to eject them.

The Hapsburgs named were Karl Ludwig and Rudolf. They entered the French occupation zone of Austria and took quarters at the Kreid Hotel in Innsbruck. The ministry denied that Otto Hapsburg, claimant to the defunct throne, and his brother, Robert, were on Austrian soil.

Hollow Theft

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP)—Pedro Serrano is much saddened by the theft today of $1660 from the hollow window sill which he used as a bank. And much puzzled.

For the thief left $1040 in the sill.

Serrano admitted it was a nice nest egg, but told police he planned to look for a new nest.

Suits for Vets From Surplus Cloth Urged

By DAN MARKEL
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—A plan to provide 3,000,000 men's suits and 1,000,000 pair of extra trousers for distribution through regular retail channels exclusively to veterans has been presented to Reconversion Director John W. Snyder by the VFW.

"Surplus cloth, trim and linings are available," Joseph M. Stack of Pittsburgh, VFW National Commander-in-Chief, advised Snyder.

"Manufacturers are ready and anxious to put their plants and workmen into production.

"Retail stores are mostly barren of men's wear and can be depended upon to cooperate.

"Veterans need the clothing."

Stack proposed that Snyder immediately direct the Smaller War Plants Corp. or its successor agency to exercise top priority and lending facilities to the purchase of surplus government woolen cloth and cotton and rayon trim and linings to process the suits and extra trousers.

Stack said:

"Surplus cloth is now being sold without restriction and is being utilized for other than men's clothing or in a price range beyond the ability of the average veteran to pay.

"The critical shortage in men's clothing, particularly suits and extra trousers, is posing one of the most difficult problems confronting demobilized service personnel.

"It is time something more definite than explanations, apologies and assurances for future betterment is offered those who were called upon to exchange civilian attire for military and naval uniforms during the war."

Palestine British Nip Refugee Ship

HAIFA, Palestine, Jan. 18 (AP)—A 500-ton motor vessel carrying 910 Jews who were trying to slip past immigration authorities into Palestine was intercepted yesterday by a British plane and warship.

British troops landed 181 of the illegal immigrants today and placed them in Atlith clearance camp.

The ship, Enzio Sereni, named after an Italian-born Jewish labor leader who was executed by the Germans after he parachuted behind Nazi lines in Italy, flew the Zionist flag.

The ship was reported to have sailed from an Italian port 12 days ago. The refugees, hailing from all parts of Europe, included 366 women.

Seen Trixie? Call Everett Boy

A sad-faced, 10-year-old boy, Billy Davis of 210 Vine st., Everett, today appealed to the Boston American for help in locating his lifelong pal, Trixie, missing six days.

She is a brindle Boston terrier with a white splotch between her eyes. He has had her since he was less than a year old.

"Trixie's 9, and she's never been away before," the youngster said.

If anyone sees Trixie, Billy can be reached at EVErett 1131. He says he will "go anywhere at any time" to claim her.

James E. Sullivan, Superintendent Of Public Buildings

The new Superintendent of Public Buildings, James Edward Sullivan, is 49, unmarried, and resides with his two sisters, Agnes and Doretta, in Hyde Park ave., Jamaica Plain. Their parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Sullivan.

Two married sisters are Mrs. Crawford R. Luff of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. Howard Turner of Providence. A brother, Thomas, lives in Jamaica Plain and another, Daniel, in Manchester, N. H.

Sullivan was a sergeant in the Air Corps in World War I.

A cost accountant, he has worked for four construction companies and is a state representative from Ward 19.

A graduate of Boston public schools and Burdett College, he is resigning all other activities to devote his time to his new work.

"The very first assignment is to see that City Hall is dusted!" he said.

He was a nephew of the late Louis Sullivan of Dorchester, who was Governor's Councilor, and of the late Rep. Benjamin Sullivan of East Boston.

ENTERTAINS VETS — More than 200 wounded veterans from local hospitals will be entertained by Louise Horton and other members of the cast of "Voice of the Turtle" in the Plymouth Theater, next Tuesday at a special matinee under the direction of the USO Citizens Committee and the American-Record.

Wounded Vets To See 'Turtle'

More than 1400 hospitalized Purple Heart heroes of World War II will be guests Tuesday at a special matinee of "The Voice of the Turtle" at the Plymouth Theater.

The men will attend as guests of Alfred de Liagre, Jr., producer of the show, and under sponsorship of the U. S. O. Citizens Hospital Committee. The entire personnel of the Plymouth has volunteered its services for the special show.

James J. O'Brien, local head of the stagehands union, and Michael J. Cavenaugh, regional general manager of the Shubert theatrical interests, are completing arrangements. Wounded men from hospitals in Fort Devens, Camp Edwards, and Camp Framingham will make up the audience.

FATAL NAVY BLAST

SEAL BEACH, Cal., June 18 (AP)—An explosion which occurred as containers of smokeless powder were being transferred from a freight car to a naval ammunition depot here yesterday killed on sailor and injured 10.

Army Answers Catholic Charge

TOKYO, Jan. 18 (AP)—The religious beliefs of 30 educators Gen. MacArthur requested be sent to Japan to help revise her school system "were not known to us" at Allied headquarters, Brig. Gen. Ken R. Dyke said today.

America, the national Catholic weekly, said not one of the 30 was a Catholic and charged "the absence of Catholic representation appears to be conscious exclusion."

Dyke, head of MacArthur's education and information section, said:

"There was no attempt to discriminate. Selection was made on the basis of individual reputation. If any or all are Catholics their religion is not known. Educators were not sought as representatives of denominational colleges. That was not a factor. As a matter of fact, some of those in my section who carried out the selections are Catholics.

"No discrimination was intended. Gen. MacArthur is known for his impartiality, particularly in religious matters."

U. S. officials said it was assumed Catholics would be invited to join the mission.

Veterans' Friend

Q—Please inform me as to my husband's status. He served for two and a half years in the U. S. Coast Guard Temporary Reserve. Is he entitled to wear discharge button, apply for state bonus and also considered a veteran? A. N., Dorchester.

A—Your husband is entitled to wear the Victory Ribbon, but not eligible for other veteran benefits. Only those who served on active duty with the armed forces, honorably discharged, permitted to wear World War II discharge button.

Q—I was discharged from the Army four months ago. My wife is expecting a baby within a short time. I would like to know if we are still entitled to GI maternity care? O. B., Boston.

A—Yes, providing your wife became pregnant while you were still a member of the armed forces. Make application through Child Hygiene Division, 73 Tremont st., Boston, Mass.

Ed. note: Many requests are being received regarding return of certain outfits from both European and Pacific areas. War Department sources state it is impossible to get advance information on re-deployment of troops due to current conditions which have been originating in these respective areas. Only announcements being made relates to divisions sailing from a foreign port or arrivals which appear under the heading "The Boys Come Home" on another page of this newspaper.)

Q—I served in the U. S. Navy for three years and took part in three invasions overseas. Last July I was honorably discharged. Only $200 has thus far been paid me off mustering-out pay. I wrote Cleveland, regarding remaining $100 and was informed my record failed to disclose overseas service. I answered the letter stating overseas service, but have heard nothing since. That was more than two months ago. What steps should I take now? G. G. C., Cambridge.

A—The Navy authorities here state that mustering-out pay is handled through Bureau of Supply and Accounts, Cleveland. Suggest that you write again addressing letter attention, "Mustering-Out Pay Division" and give full details again. You might also take up matter with First Naval District Enlisted Personnel Bureau, 150 Causeway st., Boston.

What is the regulation regarding the wearing of American Defense ribbon? I served with Marine Corps from Nov. 4, 1937 to Sept. 27, 1939 at Panama. G. E. W., Allston.

A—Persons serving in the armed forces between Sept. 8, 1939 and Dec. 7, 1941 entitled to ribbon.

Q—My husband has been in the Merchant Marine for three years. Is he eligible for release or must he have a certain amount of sea duty? H. P., Weymouth.

A—He may quit the Merchant Marine if he so desires, but would be subject to Selective Service if he came within their present regulations.

Q—I have been given to understand that ex-servicemen who contracted tuberculosis while in service will receive a pension of three-quarters base pay per month for rest of life. Is this correct? J. D. R., Boston.

A—Veterans Administration state that pension as high as 100 per cent (present equivalent $115 per month) may be granted in such cases. Amount is based on degree of illness. This amount is reduced as patient's condition is improved over a period of time. Of course, he is entitled to full hospitalization.

Q—A young man who has served with the Merchant Marine wears the honorable discharge emblem on his overcoat. Has he the right to wear this button?

L. E., Newton.

A—No, he is illegally wearing it. Only veterans honorably discharged from the armed forces of the U. S. allowed this privilege. That includes Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marine Corps, also members of the women's reserve of the armed force branches.

Q—If a boy enlisted last September in the Army at the age of 18 for the duration and six months when his time is up will he be eligible for G. I. Bill benefits?

H. M., Revere.

Boston American, Jan. 18—23

A—If he serves 90 or more days active duty he becomes eligible for benefits, provided he is discharged other than dishonorable.

DON'T BLAME G. I. JOE

TOO MANY brass hats and politicians are blaming G. I. Joe for America's loss of prestige in Europe.

They say that he behaves badly.

He does not wear his necktie straight.

He fraternizes with the natives—particularly girls.

He buys in the black market.

He shoots crap for big stakes.

He writes Congressmen and columnists.

He holds mass meetings.

He sings, "I wanna go home."

In other words, G. I. Joe is still an American citizen and shows it.

When he was fighting an enemy, he licked him.

He followed Patton and MacArthur to hell and back.

He showed his stuff at Iwo Jima and Okinawa and in the Bulge.

But he was never reduced to an unthinking, inarticulate robot.

That is democracy.

It is efficiency without being regimented.

Our men obey orders, BUT THEY ARE NOT AFRAID OF THOSE WHO GIVE ORDERS.

That is why G. I. Joe tells his officers, the Congress and the President that he wants to come home.

He does not know why he does not come home, now that the Germans and Japanese are reduced to conquered people.

And not knowing, he asks WHY.

He has a RIGHT to ask why.

NO! DON'T blame our lost prestige on G. I. Joe.

The little people of all countries know why G. I. Joe wants to come home.

They want their homes, too.

The 25,000,000 homeless men, women and children want to go home.

The displaced peoples want to go home.

The frightened and fearful conquered people and those miserable ones, the liberated peoples, would like the peace and safety of home.

They do not blame G. I. Joe for America's lost prestige.

They do blame American subservience to Soviet policy.

At Moscow, at Teheran, at Yalta, at Potsdam, the United States retreated from every principle of human rights which, during the whole of American history, guided our relations with foreign powers.

At these conferences, the United States, instead of supporting the right of every people to a government of their own choosing, agreed to the imperialistic policy of spheres of influence, to three big powers dominating all the countries of the earth.

We have lessened the effectiveness of any parliament of man by accepting the veto of three powerful nations.

We have permitted the absorption of Finland, Lithuania, Latvia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Rumania, Bulgaria, the north of Iran, Mongolia, the economic life of Manchuria, half of Korea and much of Germany into Soviet imperialism.

We have permitted the use of American arms and equipment to suppress the natural and historically correct craving of Asiatic peoples for liberty and self-government.

We have betrayed the Jews in Palestine.

That is why we have lost prestige.

WE HAVE APPEASED; we have compromised; we have failed to use our strength in a good cause.

That is why our prestige is low in Europe.

And it is low in Asia because there, too, we have cringed before the totem pole of the bear, even to the embarrassment of General MacArthur.

Don't blame G. I. Joe because he speaks his mind.

Don't blame G. I. Joe because he holds a mass meeting.

Don't blame G. I. Joe because he believes in Democracy.

Blame the smart boys in Washington.

Blame the bureaucrats who have betrayed democracy and justice.

Fear not, Dear Love, that I'll reveal
Those hours of pleasure we two steal;
No eye shall see, nor yet the sun,
Decry, what you and I have done.
No ear shall hear our love, but we,
Silent as the night, will be;
The god of love himself whose dart
Did first wound mine and then your heart
Shall never know, that we can tell,
What sweets in stolen embraces dwell.

—THOMAS CAREW.

DISPATCH REPORTS a bus driver, trying to avoid running into a dog crossing the street, caused an accident that resulted in the injury of 13 people. A couple of years ago I read of a man who, when trying to avoid running over a dog, ran his car on the sidewalk and it killed a man. How can dogs be trained not to cross streets in jaywalker style? Just because people can't be trained not to do that, let us not be discouraged about teaching it to dogs. I think it can be done. Haven't entirely succeeded in training my dog that way but am making progress. He is beginning to get the idea.

WOLVES: A Chicago girl says the worst "wolves" among men are those who smoke pipes. She also claims the average stenographer or secretary is rarely inclined to make advances, subtle or otherwise, to her boss. The worst "she wolves" in an office, says this young woman, are female executives or those women who aspire to be executives. These career women, she says, stop at practically nothing to obtain a better job or a higher salary. These interesting claims are being checked by our Horses & Women experts who will report in an early issue.

HORSES & WOMEN: In "Frontier Gal," Yvonne De Carlo is spanked by Rod Cameron. The Hollywoodians have been inserting this type of scene in films for years and keep right on doing so. It is reported to be highly interesting and amusing to the feminine clientile. However, strongly advise that no husband among our subscribers assume this type of treatment is entirely approved by wives. I know a man in San Francisco who, acting on such assumption, tried to spank his mate. The result was he suffered a black eye, his hair was pulled and his face all scratched up. Furthermore, his wife shortly after sued for divorce, using the aforementioned incident as evidence and was awarded high alimony and all the community property.

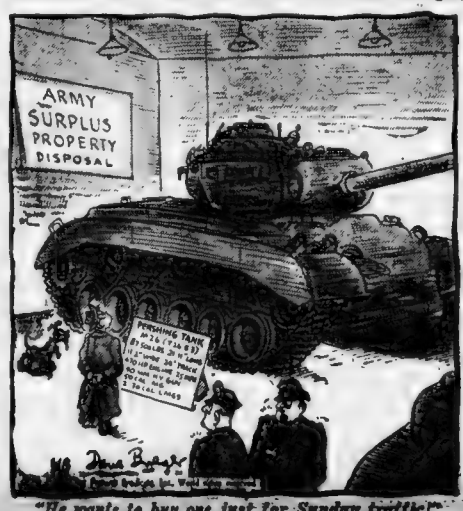
QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—What is a sing-song girl? A—She's a Chinese entertainer similar to the Geisha girls of Japan . . . Q—Say somebody gives you a puppy when it is 3 weeks old. Five years later you take the puppy to visit his father. Will the puppy know his sire and vice versa? A—I couldn't say. As a matter of fact, we were given our dog when he was a puppy. About four years later we took him to see his sire, the old champion himself. There was no evidence of recognition. The dogs practically ignored each other . . . Q—Didn't you say that according to Michigan law a husband in that State owns his wife's clothes and can sell them if he wishes? I live in Detroit and with money saved from my own earnings have bought a mink coat. A—You had better see a lawyer. I know that in South Carolina the wife's clothes belong to the husband. Am not certain about Michigan.



"He wants to buy one just for Sunday traffic!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—The question has been raised, and much too late, of "freedom of the press" for Army publications in which the buck private has been encouraged to believe that he has a right to talk back to his superiors.

Westbrook Pegler

By what theory it ever was decided that such papers had any legitimate place in disciplined military forces we never have been told, the reason for this reticence being that such activities cannot be reconciled with our military system and our laws governing the conduct of both officers and enlisted or drafted men.

The old, original Stars and Stripes was an experiment that turned out well, thanks to the happy coincidence of some young and mischievous men who displayed an opportune knack for lampooning themselves, their bosses and war in a genial and patriotic way.

When this war came along, however, Communists, pinks and radicals first promoted a great expansion of such journalism and then often contrived to plant themselves in the publications, as data in Army Intelligence has positively noted.

Failing that, they frequently got jobs in press relations and various headquarters, and the radicals were diligent to be good soldiers in the sense of not courting charges.

Their purpose was to sit out the war without being killed or hurt and to acquire all the information and influence they could for use in the future.

The present time is of that future.

ALL THIS doubtless will be developed in some phase of impending investigations and scandals.

However, the dangers presented by Army journalism, under privilege, are worse than most of us, and that term includes high staff officers, have realized.

Under "freedom of the press," this journalism has a right to employ the most vicious of gossips as "correspondents" and "columnists," with a right to express their opinions and publish rumors about all superiors, from corporals to the secretary of war.

Under such franchise, these are not only protected in their violations of the commonest military laws but protected, as well, in their noncombat editorial assignments.

For, the more offensively they violate the regulations and the articles of war by holding their superiors and the whole command up to ridicule and contempt, the more angrily their supporters may protest that any rebuke, such as a demotion or a transfer to dangerous duties, was arranged by the offended "brass-hats" as a means of silencing criticism.

It is a new application of the old, familiar system that plant managers in civilian industry encountered long ago, the martyr method which invoked the Wagner Act to prevent an employer from firing a saboteur and disrupter on the ground that he was being persecuted for "union activity."

Any slacker, turned GI journalist, might cry that the captain or the general was sending him to his death because he was telling the truth.

UNLESS THIS so-called "GI journalism" is restrained, the principle will have been established, to the irreparable damage of the Army and the nation, that any man, even a colonel with a grudge against a general or a second lieutenant, has a privilege under "freedom of the press" to inspire comments against that person in print and that the "writer" of the item, under journalistic privilege, may refuse to reveal his source. Bribery and corruption are thus invited.

Any private, saluting punctiliously, may nevertheless have the right to deliver the most insulting public affronts to any officer under his own name as a "contributor," and get away with it.

If "brass-hats" have abused their power to persecute the ranks, then the great and honored corps of correspondents for the civilian press would seem to have been remiss in their reporting of the truth.

Why haven't they told us about these impositions?

Why haven't they mentioned the names of the bad colonels and generals and given us times and places?

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18—Attractive Pat Di Cicco, ex-husband of Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski and one of the best liked guys in Hollywood, steps out in the movie business as president of his own production company.

Pat, his cousin Cubby Broccoli, and Irving Allen have just formed the Imperial Films Co. as president, vice - president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Pat was left some money from his mother, which makes him the "angel" as well as the boss of the new set-up.

Bruce Cabot

Their first picture, "Avalanche," starts Feb. 4, with Pat's pal, Bruce Cabot, in the starring role. When I ran into our newest producer a few days ago he told me it was the story of a treasury agent on the trail of a notorious tax evader. Sec. Irving Allen takes over the directorial chore.

THE DIRECTORIAL PLUM on the M-G-M lot, the story of the atomic bomb, "The Beginning or the End," has been handed to Norman Taurog. That should suit Spencer Tracy because he has the lead and Spence worked with Norman in "Boys' Town" and they got along fine. He understands my friend Tracy and makes good pictures with him. Meanwhile, let the bombs fall where they may, M-G-M is going right ahead with its atomic story and Sam Marx is working night and day.

THE CHOICE of the mother role in "Life With Father" has narrowed down to Mary Pickford and Dorothy Stickney. Mary has been on the lot and everyone at Warners says she looks so beautiful. Shirley Temple has been chosen to play the sweetheart of one of the sons, and it looks very much as though William Powell will have his dream and Warner's dream come true and play the father. I can't think of anyone else who would be as good as Bill. Dorothy Stickney played the mother on the stage and she was excellent, but naturally she hasn't the following of our Mary with the fans.

I WENT to Warners to see "My Reputation," with Barbara Stanwyck (which I liked very much by the way). But before the feature went on the boys asked if I would like to see a startling short, "Hitler Lives." Let me tell you I have never seen a more ruthlessly honest feature. It will lift you right out of your smugness. Without resorting to any "hopped up" atrocities—it shows the actual military history of Germany, written by the German people themselves, with actual scenes of their victims from war to war. Jack Warner got the idea for this featurette when he was in Europe. Much of it is horrible, grim and heart-breaking—but my advice is, see it!

NEXT SUNDAY Edith Head, Paramount's famous fashion designer, who makes clothes for Dorothy Lamour, Betty Hutton and many other glamorous stars in Hollywood, is answering Orry-Kelly on my air program. Eadie, who is very bright and witty, will give her version in the battle of the bustles. Orry's statement that none of Hollywood's stars was among the best dressed women of the world has aroused such a furor that it's been discussed from coast to coast. I always say there is nothing in the world as stimulating as a good old-fashioned argument, and Eadie is going to give it without gloves.

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"I know you're trying to sell Hadley an insurance policy, but please remember you're MY partner!"

GERALDINE FITZGERALD should worry because her play, "Portrait in Black," was panned in Pittsburgh. Geraldine, herself, rated compliments for her performance and before she got a chance to feel badly about the show Paramount paged her to return to Hollywood immediately. The role wrapped up and waiting for her is the femme lead opposite Alan Ladd in "O. S. S." Geraldine will be in Hollywood in February and she's told friends in New York that Hollywood will probably be her permanent address from here on in.

CHARLES BRACKETT and Billy Wilder are shooting at the moon and would like to get Greer Garson for "Emperor Waltz," but you know as well as I do that that's like asking for Leo the Lion, and there isn't a chance that Louis B. Mayer will loan her to Paramount or anyone else.

"But," said L. B. to the boys, "we would like you to come over to our lot and make the picture at our studio with Greer." Who wouldn't like to have Charlie and Billy, after "Lost Weekend" and a few more of their classy movies?

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Gene Markey has bought his bride, Myrna Loy, a beautiful new home in Pacific Palisades; Nigel Bruce becomes a grandpappy almost any date now. His daughter, Mrs. Jay Gould III, has a date with the stork; Mrs. Henry O'Neill, wife of the well-known character actor, faces a serious abdominal operation; Pete Daniels, who used to give the best parties in Hollywood before the war, went into her stride again when she celebrated her birthday, Hal Roach's and Dr. Harry Martin's with a dinner at her beach home. Friends of many years, Harold and Mildred Lloyd, Billie Dove, still so gorgeous, Joan Crawford most slender than I've ever seen her, Jessica and Dick Barthelmess, Fieldsy and Walter Lang, Bob Cobb, George Jessel, who went into his vocation of toastmaster and did it, as always, mighty well, Harry Joe Brown, the Jack Warners, Bill Hames, Orry-Kelly, the Freeman Gosdens, Townsend Netcher and scores of other friends joined with the newer ones among them the Jack Bennys, Gracie Allen and George Burns, Ann Sothern and Bob Sterling, the Reginald Gardiners. It was really a sentimental evening and one to remember.

JACKIE COOGAN'S son Anthony fell off his high chair and cut his head so badly he had to have six stitches; rumor is strong again that Irene Manning is getting a divorce from Keith King; Jackie Cooper has a franchise to sell automobiles. Good luck, Jackie; Nora and Errol Flynn went yachting with the Humphrey Bogarts. Bogey and Baby remained at Balboa to paint the boat and the Flynns came home. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—Gypsy Rose Lee is readying a night club act with six shapely lassies. The asking price is $4000 a week . . . N. T. G.'s former partner at the Midnight Sun is now a waiter at Toots Shor's . . . A famous bandleader and a movie glamor girl are providing the performers in a Broadway theater with even more entertainment backstage than the customers get out front . . . Larry Douglas of "The Duchess Misbehaves" and Gail Mallot, the Powers beauty, are mad for each other . . . Guy Kibbee's son is in training to be an internal revenue man . . . Nunnally Johnson stopped work on "The Dark Mirror" to rush to Columbus, Ga., where his mother is seriously ill . . . The Theater Guild would like Marlene Dietrich to play in the new Maxwell Anderson drama now in the works . . . Friends keep hearing that Nancy Carroll is on the verge of matrimony again . . . Pat Farrell (Mrs. Murray Korman) has returned to the Coast for another fling at the films.

Marlene Dietrich

GEORGIE JESSEL is now entering the music publishing business . . . The Roy Renards (he's Milton Berle's assistant) have decided on a Florida divorce . . . Steve Hannegan is trying to sell the Stork Club as a radio show but the price tag is sky-high . . . Dick Olson, son of the former governor of California, is haunting the carnival because Eileen Clarence is a showgirl there . . . Priorities will go off men's clothing in February—on garments to retail under $35 . . . Tony Martin has definitely entered in Rita Hayworth sweepstakes . . . Carole Landis' New York stay has been cut short by a rush call from her studio to report to the coast. (By the way, my Cuban spies report that when Carole and Horace Schmidlapp honeymooned at Varadera, she was a model of wifeliness, fetching him towels and sweaters, washing out his socks, and giving him scalp massages on the beach!) . . . Dusty Anderson's former husband, Capt. Charles Mathieu of the Marines, and Betsy Cann, the fashion editor, are a heart toddy.

A PENGUIN AIN'T A SINGIN' OR FLYIN' BOID CHIEF··· DEY DON'T EAT SEEDS OR SLEEP IN TREES, BECAUSE WHERE DEY LIVE AT DA SOWT'POLE IT'S ALL SNOW!··· HERE, PAULINE, DIS IS YOUR LAST FISH BEFORE YUH TAKE A NAP IN DA ICEBOX!
PUT HIM ON FLOOR···ME LIKE SEE HIM WALK. SAME LIKE LITTLE MAN! ···HOW MUCH YOU SELL HIM ME FOR? $70?···$4000?··· ME MAKE HIM MEMBER MY TRIBE?
LITTLE CHIEF WADDLE

DICK FLANAGAN of Monte Carlo has been offered a confidential post in the O'Dwyer administration . . . George M. Cohan, Jr., is slated for the lead in his dad's "45 Minutes From Broadway" when that old hit is revived . . . Oh, please! department. Red Norvo is doing the bars wearing a lavendar beret . . . Don't those ropes blocking off the aisles in movie palace loges constitute a fire menace? . . . June Knight has been commissioned by her boss, Mike Todd, to draw the pictures of the entire cast of "The Would-Be Gentleman" for a lobby display.

Boston After Dark

WITH severe military censorship now relaxed, can't some trustworthy source assure us that the late FDR was not a patient in a Boston hospital in the winter of 1944? . . . The "rumor" was denied officially by the White House secretariat, and for reasons of "security of state" it was difficult to make a real check on the report.

We still meet persons who "are positive" that the lamented President was in a Boston hospital, and some who say they "knew" he underwent an operation here . . . Without doubting the denials—as they were made to sound official and forthright enough to satisfy the most persistent reporters—it is still in order to seek information on the subject at this late date . . . Because of all the war rumors tabbed as "phony," that one had stronger and faster wings than any other unverified report ever spread through Greater Boston . . . What started it, and how did it catch fire the way it did? . . . Can anyone help us?

NEW YORK'S TWO BIGGEST musical hits, "Are You With It?" and "Show Boat," both were adapted from novels . . . "Are You With It?" the musical comedy triumph which serves as Fred Kollmar's production-answer to the charges (after his flop "Dream With Music") that he was "an actor, not a producer," was adapted from a book called "Slightly Perfect."

"SHOW BOAT," of course, was Oscar Hammerstein 2d's immortal musicalization of Edna Ferber's novel by the same title . . . Another curious angle of the Big Town's two leading musical successes being inspired by novels is that there had not been a musical hit made from a novel in the 19 years between "Show Boat's original production and "Are You With It's" smashing triumph this season.

COMES TO LIGHT the stoppress news that the "postwar pin-up girl" is Winnie Garrett, the leading female at the Globe . . . La Winnie became "Miss New Guinea" (if we can believe Joe Saxe's handwriting) in a contest which polled more than 70,000 votes (says Joe), and attracted hundreds of competitors—including three dozen from Mr. Saxe's favorite biographical field, burlesque . . . Joseph chronicles the highlights of the lives of the performers of the Old Howard, as well as the Globe.

MICHEL, SUFFOLK DOWNS' Paddock Club maitre d', is headwaiter of the Miami Beach Latin Quarter . . . The professional gamblers who made huge investments in the Miami sector are moanin' low—and medium and high . . . Business has been tremendous, but the gendarmes have gotten stern in contradiction to the "original understanding."

BENNY GAINES' new Blackamoor Room, opposite the Dempsey Vanderbilt Hotel which Mr. G. operated for 10 years, has become one of the Beach's most popular cocktail lounges . . . George S. "Snap" Cohen, the retired newsboy and expert handler of boxfighters, will celebrate his 60th birthday next Wednesday, and congratulations can be sent care of "Snap's" favorite friend, Maxwell (Mack) Shapiro, the Harrison ave. wool magnate.

PERRY COMO is rated one of the best golfers in show business — almost in Der Bingle's class . . . But he's known on the links as "The Snail," he takes so long between strokes . . . William P. Coffey, of South Boston and Quincy, president of the 101st Infantry Veterans' Ass'n, will be feted at the Parker House Roof Jan. 26 . . . Mr. Coffey is in charge of Howard Johnson's important industrial catering department.

THE VILLA NOVA caught on with a bang . . . The new Italian restaurant—where there are no ready dishes (everything cooked to order) except the baskets of fresh fruit the management serves gratis to all customers—doubled its luncheon business in three days and tripled its second night's business on the third night of its young career . . . (Lassagna is a fixture on the menu.)

LAUNCHING of the Villa Nova gives the town three strategically located first class Italian restaurants, with the Grotto in Hanover st., the Villa Nova in midtown (Albany and Broadway) and Lena's popular late spot in Massachusetts ave. . . . Both the Grotto and Mr. Palladino's Villa Nova give Lena's an exclusive shot at the stay-up-late trade by closing promptly at 1 a. m.

JACK LARKIN'S latest Red Coach Grille, at Venetian Causeway and Biscayne Boulevard, Miami, will open March 1 . . . The staff at the Boston Red Coach, in Stanhope st., is still amazed at the "Believe It or Not" item which developed the other night . . . A patron, who bites oysters instead of swallowing them intact, crunched his teeth against a brittle substance . . . Five (5) pearls were the product of that single bivalve . . . The same customer, incidentally, has an affinity for pearls (small ones) . . . Twenty years ago he harvested two pearls in one week, but from different oysters . . . Some chronic oyster-eaters suffer through a pearl-less lifetime

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—President Truman has become convinced there's no political future in being an Executive Plain Jane and has decided to go heavily after glamor.

President Truman

The President was talked into it by a number of his advisers, most of whom got their ideas of how to be a winning personality from observing the late FDR.

As a result, a special glamor studio is being quietly set up in the East Wing of the White House right now.

These showmanship - conscious advisers pounted out that Roosevelt's greatest charm was his mellifluous voice; that it had qualities which bewitched the voters right into the polling booth and made them pull down the Roosevelt lever.

They told Mr. Truman that he suffers in comparison because of his flat Missouri monotones.

They told him his voice lacks utterly in appeal; that it is so clipped and colorless his words sound forced and unconvincing—like someone who had learned a recitation by heart.

They added, however, that this definitely does not apply when his listeners can see him too, because he has such an infectious smile that the dreary qualities of his voice are forgotten.

He accompanies his words with a boyish grin that warms the spectator and makes him want to take the President to his political bosom.

They convinced Mr. Truman that, with the advent of popular television, he will become the greatest attraction on the air; greater than Franklin Roosevelt ever dreamed of being, which is saying the ultimate. They assured him he will literally become the voice with a smile and a pushover for re-election.

The upshot is that the most up-to-the-minute television studio known to electrical science is being set up in the White House. It has everything in the way of fancy lighting; for setting off the glamor-seeking subject in highlights and shadows, and all the rest of the stuff beloved by the Hollywood glamorpussinbootses.

The President is being painstakingly coached in how to gesture, talk, and—most particularly—smile before the television apparatus. Those who have been privileged to see him in rehearsal, contend that America will see an utterly new Truman when television becomes in general usage in the nation's homes.

THE NATIONAL Housing Agency is our greatest authority on the housing shortage. It labors day and night trying to speed up housing construction so people will have houses to live in.

John J. Blandford, Jr., its administrator, has practically been running himself bowlegged trying to keep working citizens and corporations with a roof over their heads. If there is one thing that breaks Mr. Blandford's heart—a tender and susceptible thing—it is to hear that someone has been evicted.

Well, his heart is completely shattered now. He and his National Housing Agency have been evicted.

FOR NEARLY four years the NHA has been housed in a lovely old mansion at 16th and Eye sts., two blocks from the White House. The place originally was owned by a family named Potter, or Porter, but when the last of the clan kicked off it was bequeathed in equal shares to the Library of Congress and the Smithsonian Institution.

Figuring these were pretty substantial landlords, the government leased the premises from them and turned it over to the NHA. The NHA was very happy there, paying its rent regularly and being in every way a model tenant.

The other day, however, it received summary notice to get out because the property had been sold and the new owners wished it for themselves. When Mr. Blandford ran screaming to the Library of Congress and the Smithsonian to ask why they had sold the roof from over his head they replied curtly that it was because they had gotten a good offer.

But the about-to-be-homeless Mr. Blandford became even more anguished when he discovered the identity of the heartless new owner who was having him thrown out in the dead of winter.

The new owner is Eric Johnston and his Motion Picture pearl-less lifetime.

REP. DEWEY SHORT of Missouri, who has suggested that the nation ought to have a "Be-Kind-to-Your-Congressman-Week," reports that his office is so cluttered with complaining mail that he almost has to fight his way in with a pitchfork.

"It's no fun being in Congress these days," he said. "I have done some research and discovered that the average Congressman nowadays receives more mail in a single day than Henry Clay or Daniel Webster did in an entire session."

Plane

the crash said the plane seemed to be in trouble just before flames and smoke spouted from its engines.

As the flames licked out over the fuselage and wings it turned over and then began a long, slanting dive to the earth.

Cheshire Constable R. C. Warner reported both wings ripped off as the plane plunged in flames to the ground and crashed about a mile and a half from the reformatory.

One of the first to reach the scene, he said passengers were "burned to a crisp" and that the majority of them were piled inside the flaming wreckage.

Lester Harris, Cheshire real estate man, saw the craft burst into flames as it passed above the town and trailed it to the scene.

He said he saw three bodies near the wreckage and "10 or 12 others" piled up inside.

State police rushed all available men, ambulances and medical personnel to the scene.

Ambulances also were rushed over the road from New Haven, about 15 miles away.

Barbed wire fences surrounding the pasture delayed firemen in getting apparatus near the wreckage.

They were forced to hack down two sections of fence and then were able to get apparatus on the field only one by one.

However, State troopers reported the heat was so intense, it was doubtful they would have been able to rescue any possible survivors.

The plane burned with such fierceness flames were still spurting into the air as high as near by treetops an hour after the crash.

Only a portion of one wing and the tail assembly remained identifiable after firemen had extinguished the flames.

Police squads then began the task of removing bodies of the victims. All 17 were reported recovered.

Indiana Standard Oil Bows to Fact Finders

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (A.P.)—Standard Oil Co. of Indiana announced today it had accepted the presidential fact-finding panel's recommendation for an 18c per cent increase in oil workers' wages and would make it the basis for adjustments to employees at the huge Whiting, Ind., refinery and many others.

10 Health Police Face Discharge

Ten constables assigned to the department of health have been removed from the city payroll because of failure to report for work, Health Comr. Frederick J. Bailey announced today.

Dr. Bailey said the men's duty was to check on garbage and refuse piles. He planned to confer with the major on the latter's return from Washington, and discuss the advisability of firing the men.

Those whose names were ordered off the payroll as of last Wednesday morning are Timothy Scannell, Peter Hedstrom, John F. Ganley, Edward Sullivan, Lawrence Thomson, Andrew Martin, Arthur Matthews, Salvatore Guaragna, Barnett Levenson and John Cunniff.

let me out of this uniform

IF YOU DON'T NEED A SUIT OR AN OVERCOAT AS BADLY AS I DO...GIVE ME THE FIRST SHOT AT THE FEW THAT ARE AROUND...WILL YOU?

Now that we've gone this far let's go all the way—we've done without out cigarettes—we've done without meat and butter—and automobiles and radios—and what not—let's make this gesture too—for the boys who did so much for us.

They're home—and they have their discharges—help them back to civilian life—let them have first picking of the limited supplies of civilian clothes now available.

AMERICA'S LOOMS—AMERICA'S MEN'S CLOTHING MANUFACTURERS ARE WORKING DAY AND NIGHT TO OVERCOME THIS TEMPORARY SQUEEZE.

V J Day, as welcomed as it was, caught the entire industry in the midst of an all-out uniform-producing program. The armed forces were preparing for the greatest invasion program in all history. From January 1 1945 to V-J Day every ounce of worsteds that this great country could produce was going into uniforms.

It takes four months to bring a man's suit from the looms to our racks. New production since V J Day is just beginning to come in, but in the meantime five million men have come back from the service and some of the industry are still making uniforms for the boys that continue in service.

SUPPLIES ARE BECOMING MORE PLENTIFUL EVERY DAY, but for the next several months, at least the demand will be much greater than the supply.

If you don't need that suit or coat immediately — if you can wait one month—two months—or longer—please give the boys in uniform theirs first. They need them desperately! AS RAPIDLY AS SUPPLIES OF CLOTHING BECOME MORE PLENTIFUL YOU WILL FIND THEM AT KENNEDY'S

110 Japs Added To Wanted List

TOKYO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur today ordered arrest of 110 more Jap war criminal suspects, including seven generals, and counter-intelligence officers arrested long-missing Dr. Ba Maw, puppet premier of Burma.

In Peiping, Chinese arrested Maj. Gen. Eugene Ott, Nazi ambassador to Tokyo at the time Pearl Harbor was attacked, and announced he would be brought to Japan for questioning.

The 110 additional war crimes suspects listed for arrest included Gen. Takeji Wachi, former chief of staff of Japanese general headquarters, as well as prison camp officers and guards from the Solomons to Honshu to Truk.

Hint Meat Strike Knits Union Ties

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Government efforts to end the three-day-old strike of 263,000 meat-packing workers resumed today amid hints the CIO and AFL unions involved may support each others' demands against the packers.

As government conciliators and Chairman Edwin E. Witte of the new fact-finding board resumed conferences with disputants, a Labor Department official indicated last-minute efforts were under way to settle the wage dispute without fact-finding hearings.

However, if week-end mediation and conciliation efforts fail, the fact-finding board will move to Chicago Monday for public hearings. The board is to meet here Sunday.

Spokesmen for the unions involved admitted before today's conference that, despite a difference in wage demands, each may hold out until both wage questions are settled.

The CIO packing house workers are asking an immediate 17½ cents an hour increase, while the AFL butchers and meat cutters demand 15 cents. The CIO union wants provisions for later negotiations of a 7½ cent increase.

REPATRIATE 954,000 JAPS

TOKYO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Repatriation of 954,000 Japanese by the end of 1945 was reported today by the central liaison office of Allied headquarters. Of the number, 404,000 were military personnel.

omy to which our veterans can eturn."

Mr. Truman said that in suggesting 18½ cents for a settlement of the dispute he was "not endeavoring to set a pattern for all industry."

"Each controversy should be worked out on its own merits," he said. "The agreements should be reached in every case by free collective bargaining.

"In this connection I regret that we do not have legislation such as I have recommended, which would require a cooling-off period of 30 days. During these 30 days, I am confident that some settlement could be reached. I urge the United States Steel Corp., on the ground of the public interest as well as good business, to accept this settlement."

In accepting the presidential proposal, Philip Murray, steelworkers' president, wrote Mr. Truman "consistent with the steadfast policy" of promoting the national welfare and protecting the interests of its members, the union officers were recommending approval of his proposal by their wage policy committee.

In the letter to the President, made public by U. S. Steel offices here, Fairless wrote the "proposal is almost equivalent to granting in full the union's revised demand of a wage increase of 19½ cents an hour."

"In our opinion," Fairless continued, "there is no just basis upon which any point of view for a wage increase to our steelworkers of the large size you have proposed."

Fairless said that such an increase, "if put into effect, is certain to result in great financial harm, not only to this corporation but also to users of steel in general."

Fairless was in New York where he had gone last night with the President's compromise offer to consult with his directors and other steel executives.

Murray's acceptance was delivered by David J. McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the CIO-Steelworkers. After receiving the President's proposal, Murray consulted with his fellow officers and with the CIO's over-all strategy committee.

Brockton Pupils Rouse DAR Ire

BROCKTON, Jan. 18—Brockton High School students were branded as "intolerant and ungrateful" today by Mrs. Elliott D. Thompson of Abington, head of Deborah Sampson Chapter, D. A. R., who announced the organization was withdrawing all awards for public school children.

The D. A. R.'s action followed announcement by the high school senior class that it would not participate in the annual good citizenship Pilgrim award because of the D. A. R.'s attitude toward Negroes.

A Spring Wedding

A FASHIONABLE EARLY spring wedding in Boston will be that of post deb Lee Thacher and Richard Tevis of Carmel, Cal., whose engagement is announced today by Lee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Thacher of Pinckney st.

A deb of '39-'40, Lee graduated from Chatham Hall School in Virginia, and made her debut at a dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Ketchum of South Natick. During the war she was with the Military Intelligence Service in New York and the Office of Strategic Services in San Francisco.

Lee Thacher

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tevis of Carmel, graduated from Cate School in Santa Barbara and the U. of California. He was with the American Field Service 15 months in No. Africa and has recently been released from the Army after serving overseas as liaison officer at First Army Headquarters.

RUTH POSSELT, nationally famous violinist and native of Boston, will be guest artist at the next Morning Musicale, Jan. 23. In private life the wife of Richard Burgin, concertmaster of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Miss Posselt is widely acquainted among Boston socialite music lovers who have followed her career since her first public recital in Jordan Hall at the age of six.

There will be several changes in the line-up of committee workers at the next musicale because some members are away on winter travels. Mrs. Frank A. Pemberton will pinch hit at the information table for Mrs. Alexander Wheeler who has left for a month's vacation aboard a yacht at Palm Beach.

While Miss Louise Coburn of Commonwealth ave. is visiting in Seattle, Washington, her place at the ticket table will be taken by Mrs. Charles T. Gilbert, peppy little committee member from Milton. Mrs. John E. Lawrence of South Hamilton will be welcomed back after a leave of absence for a blessed event.

During the sociable coffee hour before the concert the pourers will be Mrs. Harold C. Keith, Campobello; Mrs. Austin Cheever and Mrs. Joseph F. Corcoran, Boston; Mrs. William A. White, Brookline; Mrs. Edson B. Smith, Waban; Mrs. Frank Gorham Brigham, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Walter Gray Phippen, Salem, and Mrs. Theodore C. Haffenreffer, Jr. Newton Center.

INTERESTING STORIES of their war-time experiences were revealed by Vassar alumnae at the Boston Vassar Club's dinner meeting this week. Called War Adventures Evening the program featured talks by Dr. Katharine G. Dodge of Beacon st., who has been in Greece with UNRRA. Jean M. Anderson and Jean Pierce who were overseas with the Red Cross.

Truman Fills 3 High U. S. Posts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (INS)—President Truman today made nominations to fill three top-ranking government posts.

He selected George E. Allen of Washington, close friend and presidential adviser, as a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Edwin W. Pauley of California was chosen Undersecretary of the Navy, succeeding Artemus Gates, resigned.

W. Stuart Symington of St. Louis was nominated assistant Secretary of War for Air, succeeding Robert A. Lovett, resigned.

Symington will continue as head of the Surplus Property Administration until confirmed. His successor as SPA head is expected to be Lt. Gen. E. B. Gregory, former Army quartermaster general.

Allen has been termed the "Harry Hopkins" of the Truman administration. His RFC appointment is for two years.

Chips, Come Back For Your Digitalis

HARTFORD, Ct., Jan. 18 (AP)—When any dog is lost, somebody worries, but there's a real emergency in the disappearance of Chips.

Chips is a large, tan, 6-year-old English airedale, special companion of Reid Scholefield, 3½, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Scholefield of West Hartford.

Chips has heart trouble. Twice every day he has to take digitalis. Yesterday he disappeared.

The family today asked everyone to be on the lookout. Chips has missed two doses and if he misses two more anything could happen.

New-Car Makers Eye Chicago Plant

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (AP)—Part of the big government-owned Dodge-Chicago plant is being sought by a syndicate planning production of a new rear-engined passenger automobile, according to a report here.

The syndicate, membership not disclosed, is said to be negotiating now with the Reconstruction Finance Corp. for a lease.

The car has been described as a super-streamlined vehicle designed to sell around $1000. The rear-engine installation would transmit power directly to the wheels, reducing weight by approximately 1500 pounds.

CHURCH COLLECTION

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Once a month in our church, envelopes are distributed for contributions toward the support of the church. My mother, who is a widow, writes her name on the envelope as follows: Mrs. John Gordon. Will you please tell us if this form is correct?

C. A.

Yes, this is the correct form.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE MAIL BAG bulges with inquiries. Many have general interest and appeal. We'll try and answer as many as space permits. The others will be taken care of by mail . . . so please be patient if your pertinent and personal problem is not included in today's listed replies.

R. M. F., of Medford, raises many points that have been duplicated in countless other communications, so we'll answer most of hers.

Q—What happens after the 28 days, that is, will our intake of food have to be practically the same as now, and are we off sweets for good? A—Let's cross that bridge when we come to it. Right now we're taken up with taking off excess pounds. Suffice it to say, that at the conclusion of the series, we'll give you a good foundation diet to guide you in maintaining the weight you achieved via this diet series, and one that is not so restrictive.

Q—Would it be harmful to continue with the diet for an indefinite period? A—No, providing you are not engaged in strenuous work.

Q—I am 5 feet 3½ inches and weighed 139 at the beginning of the diet. My bodily frame is about medium. How much should I weigh for my height and build? A—I am happy to hear you lost four pounds the first week, but I must have your age to give you an accurate reply. Next week I will cover this question with a general resume and if there are others who desire to know their proper weight based on age, height and frame structure, I'll be happy to tell them if they write me.

Q—You haven't mentioned anything about rest, so I gather just the normal night's sleep is sufficient. A—That is correct. Eight hours' sleep is sufficient.

Q—How about smoking, does it help or hinder the appetite? A—My advice is to smoke after meals.

Q—It seems that I am always on the previous day's diet due to the fact that the American doesn't come out until just before I go to lunch. Is it possible to substitute one day's breakfast with another day's lunch? Would you be getting the sufficient total daily calories this way? A—We prefer you follow the day's menu as given, since it has been carefully balanced. Repeat one day's menus to keep abreast of the daily suggestions, or one day behind printed schedule.

Mrs. E. M. J., of Wrentham:

Q—I cannot use grapefruit, tomato juice or orange juice. Acids hurt me. A—Grapefruit, tomato juice or orange juice are not acids in the system. They are alkalinizers. You are laboring under a misapprehension if you think they are acids. Perhaps you have an allergy to these fruits, in which instance you should substitute tablets of vitamin C, or better still consult a physician before undertaking any dieting routine.

Q—Also may I use white bread in place of other kinds? How about biscuits? A—No, because they are highly nutritive and do not contain the necessary vitamins which have been considered in the skilful balance of this weight-reducing diet.

H. S., of Salem:

Q—I have to take my lunch to work each day. Would you please advise me how I can go on the diet and yet take my lunch each day and what would you advise me to take? A—Since you write your lunch usually consists of one sandwich, cup of coffee and either an apple or orange, it would be simple to substitute the glass of skimmed milk as a liquid and the meat of the evening meal for the luncheon main dish, being careful not to use bread unless specified. It would take some juggling, but I feel certain you can do this in planning the next day's diet menu. Today's salad may be fixed tomorrow morning for a place in your lunch box . . . that is if we are a day ahead of your schedule.

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American, we'll give Saturday's and Sunday's, the 13th and 14th days' menus and answer more inquiries.

Chap Stick Softens Lips

STORMY WEATHER . . . RAIN, SNOW, wind, sleet and zero temperatures . . . is the signal for special lip care with a grand little medicated chap stick specially medicated for the purpose. The lips . . . having no sebaceous glands . . . can't lubricate themselves . . . so the minute the storm signals go up they're likely to become dry, parched, roughened even when you wield your lipstick well and frequently.

And think of the men and children in your family who haven't even this protection for their tender lips and what a spot they are really in. The men in the armed services learned the chap stick habit and have brought it back to civilian life . . . and it's now as much a part of their pocket equipment as their keys. And they use it as unself-consciously as ever a woman uses a lipstick.

So we women folk ought to take a tip from the men and use this lip protection under or over our regular lipstick . . . even make it as much a part of our nightly ritual as our nightly facial cleansing. The soothing oils and medicaments in this little colorless stick . . . about the size of an ordinary lipstick . . . will keep those lips smooth, soft and lovely and enhance any and all lip coloring you may use.

For the name of this lip protection lipstick, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write Ruth Mugglebee, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Thrifty Cook Picks Dishes With Real Oyster Flavor

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

DURING THE "R" MONTHS we can be assured that most of the markets will have a fine supply of plump, fresh oysters. And meal planners will be wise if they will include these nutritious bivalves in their menus. With oysters sitting almost at the top of the list of costlier foods, it is the thrifty cook who selects dishes that make the most of the delectable oyster flavor.

MACARONI-OYSTER CASSEROLE

1 pint oysters
6 ounces elbow macaroni
3 qts. actively boiling water
1 tbsp. salt
2 cups medium white sauce
½ cup grated American cheese
Buttered bread crumbs

Wash and drain oysters. Add macaroni gradually to boiling water to which salt has been added. Cook about 8 minutes. Drain and rinse macaroni. While the macaroni is cooking, fold oysters into white sauce to which grated cheese has been added. Add macaroni. Pour mixture into a greased, 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. This recipe makes 4 servings.

There is nothing so delicious after a brisk walk in the open air or when the wind is howling around the house, as a steaming bowl of oyster stew. Some enthusiasts insist on plain half milk and half cream, well seasoned with salt and pepper, with plenty of butter floating on top, and with the oysters just cooked until the edges curl. Then there are those that say Worcestershire sauce and paprika need to be added for a more savory stew.

Whichever way you like oyster stew makes little difference, for both schools will agree that this tomato oyster bisque is just about tops served piping hot with crisp crackers or melba toast.

TOMATO OYSTER BISQUE

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ cup minced celery
1 tbsp. minced onion
3 tbsp. flour 1 tsp. [illegible]
¼ tsp. pepper 3 cups milk
1 doz. raw oysters and liquor
½ tsp. celery salt
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 cup drained, cooked tomato
½ tsp. soda

Cook minced celery and onion in butter over direct heat, using top of double boiler. Add flour and seasonings and blend. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth and thickened. Meanwhile, drain oysters, reserving liquor. Cut oysters with scissors and add to liquor with celery salt and lemon juice. Heat just to boiling. Add to milk mixture, and place over hot water in double boiler. Heat tomato, add soda and blend; add gradually to hot oyster bisque. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

OYSTERS MICHAEL

4 cups diced bread
½ cup butter or margarine
1 pint oysters ½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
1 cup light cream

Saute bread cubes in butter 5 minutes, or until lightly browned, stirring frequently. Place half the bread in greased casserole; arrange oysters in this and sprinkle with salt and nutmeg; add cream and top with remaining bread. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.)

Fashion

FOR THE average American woman . . . who is 5 feet-5 inches or under . . . here's a Varden Petite cocoa-brown wool suit with the new three-quarter length parachute sleeves that is figure perfect . . . for this house makes a specialty of catering to women not mannequin proportions. Over a skirt that has the suggestion of a flare . . . the new shorter jacket . . . nipped in at the waist . . . hangs smoothly and smartly. Pretty, eh what?—R. M.

Introducing Boy To Both Parents

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Isn't it proper for a girl sometimes to intrduce a boy to both her parents at the same time? If so, how does she do it?

ELAINE.

Yes, this is proper; for example, when the boy arrives to call on her or to take her to the movies, a dance, and so forth. Then she might say, "Mother, this is John Dale, who is taking me to the dance tonight. Father, John Dale."

Walker, Wynn for Laughs

By PEGGY DOYLE

"What Now, Corporal Hargrove?" in which Robert Walker and Keenan Wynn continue their GI antics in Europe, is presently on Loew's twin screen and strictly for laughs.

And strictly from the feed-box, this Metro follow-up is no exception, being handicapped by the usual sequel fate in that it is not as spontaneous and punchy as the original.

But, no matter, now that war is done with and the only hint of tragedy is the precariousness with which Walker's earnest but fumbling Hargrove wears his corporal stripes, the paying customers are finding it chucklesome entertainment.

The rise and fall of Hargrove and his incorrigibly larcenous buddy, Mulvehill, from garbage detail to heroes and back again, is achieved with mirthful results, thanks to Richard Thorpe's brisk, knowing direction.

In charge of an artillery truck stranded in a muddy French road, the corporal and his men try a shortcut to catch up with their unit. Inadvertently, they enter a French village as the first American soldiers and are hailed with kisses, wine, feasting and gracious speeches.

Briefly, everything is on the up-and-up for Hargrove and Mulvehill, thanks to the former's charm for the mayor's pretty daughter and the mayor's eagerness to defer to Hargrove on all civilian matters. They next turn up in Paris and in trouble in spades. Mulvehill glibly extricates them from that one at the sacrifice of Hargrove's friendship.

When Mulvehille is faced with desertion charges, young "Pythias" Hargrove comes to bat naturally, and the two are back again on the road to gummed-up but comic situations.

BEATRICE KAY, stage, screen and radio star, begins a three-week engagement at the Latin Quarter on Sunday evening.

Phil Brito Wins Favor

The bobby-soxers tore the tie off Phil Brito at the first show yesterday at the RKO-Boston.

They got his shirt, too, a little later. And by the time you read this Phil Brito may be down to his garters.

It is all by way of saying that they like Phil Brito at the K-B.

If Mr. Brito and his wardrobe last out the week, the show will include him and his popular songs and the famous Charlie Spivak and his trumpet—and the bobby soxers and everybody else will be happy.

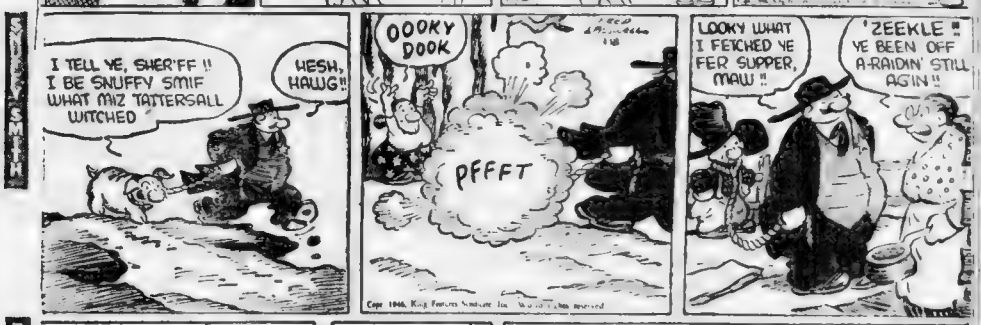
THERE'S THE ENTRANCE TO THE ICE CAVE, PROF. MURDOCK!
I'VE COVERED THIS AREA BEFORE. BUT CONSTANTLY SHIFTING SNOW DRIFTS MUST HAVE CONCEALED THE OPENING.

INCREDIBLE! A PERFECTLY PRESERVED SPECIMEN OF A VIKING WARRIOR!
FIRST, WE'LL CHIP HIM OUT IN A BLOCK AND THEN WE'LL MELT IT WITH A BONFIRE --

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE
LITTLE DIMPLES IS SUCH A CUTE LITTLE GIRL - BUT TO GET HER TO DO ANYTHING YOU HAVE TO BRIBE HER - BUT SHE IS A GRAND LITTLE BABY -
WELL - WERE YOU A NICE LITTLE GIRL AT SCHOOL AND DID YOU KNOW ALL YOUR LESSONS?
WELL - NOT ALL -
WELL - NOW FOR BEING A GOOD LITTLE GIRL - I WANT YOU TO GIVE ME A KISS - AND I'LL GIVE YOU THIS LOLLIPOP!!
FOR A KISS?
YOU KIN KEEP THE OLD LOLLIPOP!
BLONDIE
HURRY, HERB, HERE COMES OUR BUS!



EASY ACES
I TELL YE, SHER'FF !! I BE SNUFFY SMIF WHAT MAZ TATTERSALL WITCHED
HESH, HAWG!!
OOOKY DOOK
PFFFT
LOOKY WHAT I FETCHED YE FER SUPPER, MAW !!
'ZEEKLE !! YE BEEN OFF A-RAIDIN' STILL AGIN !!

DR. ROBBS
SO, YOU KNEW OF OUR LITTLE PLOT ALL THE TIME.
THAT'S RIGHT - AND I THOUGHT A LITTLE HELP TO BASIL WOULDN'T GUM UP THINGS TOO BADLY!
WELL, I HOPE HE'S LEARNED A LESSON!
I'M WILLING TO ASSUME MY RIGHTFUL PLACE AS FATHER TO THE CHILD - IN SPITE OF HIS BLINDNESS! - SAY - HE SEEMS TO SEE MY HAND!
HE DOES SEE YOUR HAND - DR BOBBS REMOVED THE CYSTS THREE DAYS AGO.... AND NOW HE CAN SEE! ISN'T IT GLORIOUS!
DIDN'T MEAN A THING TO ME - THE BOYS A PERFECT PHYSICAL SPECIMEN ANYWAY - CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK EH SON?

KEN ROONEY
LOOK! ANNIE'S ALL DRESSED UP!
MRS MEANY'S GOIN' TO PUT HER IN THE SHOW CASE!
IN THE SHOW CASE? WHAT'S THAT?
IT MEANS WHEN FOLKS COME SHOPPIN' FOR ORPHANS, SOME KID GETS ALL DRESSED UP AND IS PUT IN THE SHOW CASE
HONEST, NO FOOLIN' - DOES SOMEONE WANT TO ADOPT ME?
DON'T ASK QUESTIONS - JUST SIT STILL, SMILE AND LOOK HAPPY!
SEE FOR YOURSELF HOW WELL AND HAPPY THE LITTLE DARLING IS - I NEVER ALLOW ANYONE TO TALK TO MY CHILDREN! IT EXCITES THEM - RAISES FALSE HOPES

MANDRAKE
LOOK AT THAT! THE LOCUSTS ONLY ATTACKED MY FIELD!
STRANGE. Hmm - THERE THEY GO --!
WHAT WERE YOU SAYING ABOUT A SCARECROW?
I SAID -- TOO BAD IT CAN'T SCARE AWAY INSECTS AS WELL AS BIRDS.
BUT I HAVEN'T GOT A SCARECROW ON THIS FIELD.
WHY, THERE'S ONE RIGHT OVER THERE.

POPEYE
I'LL LEAVE YOU ALONE TO INTERPRET YOUR FUTURE
ANK ANK
POPEYE!! I HEARD WEDDING BELLS IN THE CRYSTAL

Weinberg Fight Prelims Signed

Clint Conway, Washington, D. C., and Art McAlpine, Springfield, will clash in the 8-round semi-final to the Bill Weinberg-Jay D. Turner 10-round feature next Monday night at Mechanics Building, it was announced by matchmaker Sam Silverman of the Callahan A. C.

Sixes will be Henry Burak, Hyde Park, vs. Johnny Melko, Worcester; Mike Gagne, Spencer, vs. Jim McKeagney, Quincy, and the curtain-lifting four will be Fred Fields, Chelsea, vs. Johnny Marra, South Boston.

HC Picked to Topple RI State

Holy Cross will defeat Rhode Island State when they tangle before a packed house at the Garden next Thursday. That was the opinion of more than one expert today after watching the undefeated Crusaders make the Boston College five look "informal" in the second game of the weekly double-header. Hamline shaded American International from Springfield, 46-44 in the first game, but B. C. was outclassed, 70-39.

Their theory: HC controls the ball, and any team capable of doing that will defeat racehorse RI State

HC looked capable of beating any team in New England as it toyed with BC. After the first few minutes in which BC took a 5-0 lead, HC was in command. It led 30-17 at halftime and probably could have racked up 100 points had it kept its regulars in. As it was, Phil Kenney of BC was the game's top scorer with 15 points.

Joe Mullaney, George Kaftan, Dermott O'Connell were marvelous and the game proved that HC has some capable reserves. Kids like Krause, Dave Mullaney, Ronnie Anderson, Joe Dacey, Bernie Prusaczyk and Bob Blinn, who see little action, were far too good for BC's regulars.

As a contest, the Hamline-AIC game was the more spectacular but outside of a few hundred AIC students, few seemed interested in the outcome.

HC was an 18-point favorite before the game, and for that reason the crowd numbered only 5182 compared to last week's 12,400. But with RI State promising some fierce competition, the Old Depot will be jammed to capacity next week. This HC team is the darling of the town.

Some Worried Thoughts About Housing Shortage

By AUSTEN LAKE

I GET PRETTY SICK of worrying whole, overtime headfuls just because our public officials who are paid for that purpose refuse to worry a tinker's dam. Still, somebody's got to worry about the people's troubles, so it might as well be me.

Austen Lake

F'rinstance, Gov. Tobin isn't worrying even a small cerebral wrinkle about finding 8000 to 9000 accommodations for foreign diplomats, clerks, chauffeurs, bar-tenders, interpreters and flunkies in case the UNO chooses Greater Boston for its global home. The Governor assures the UNO there will be ample housing for everybody, and not to worry. And here I've been worrying myself dizzy trying to find even a toolshed or hayloft where a veteran's family can keep the wind off themselves.

So now that I have warmed up my worries to a full boil I will worry about 4000 veterans' families instead of only one. Which brings me to the subject of 2000 Quonset huts which the Navy has declared surplus and are gathering rust in a supply dump at Davisville, R. I.

It Needs Quick Action

THESE HUTS, I AM INFORMED by Com. Dave Lasker of the Massachusetts Jewish War veterans, are available under the surplus properties act, with the states having prior rights to purchase. They are rounded steel shelters built along the architectural lines of an Eskimo igloo, with wooden floors, a single entrance at each end, ample windows and heated by pot-bellied GI stoves.

I know them well. As a hobo-correspondent in England, France and Germany I have lived in scores of them. They are snug and weather tight. They are livable though not lavish.

So, if I were the Governor I would reach for my telephone and call the Navy at Davisville and strike up a bargain for those 2000 huts, which probably would sell for dimes on the original dollar. Then I'd call my good friend James Michael Curley and say as follows: "Jim, I need a few hundred acres of empty park space, like Franklin Park, or the Boston Common or Castle Island, where we can erect these Q-huts till the housing emergency is over. We don't stand to lose any money on the deal because we can partition each hut into duplex apartments and charge maybe $8 a month for heat, light and upkeep and later sell them for salvage."

And if Curley is the public spirited gent he says he is, maybe in six weeks the various settlements would be open and 4000 veterans' families transferred from the flea traps and cockroach corners where they now reside, if they reside at all.

But if Boston is going to do this, it had better do it quick. Because Mayor Bill O'Dwyer of New York is bidding right now for 1300 of those Navy huts at Davisville and plans to put them to the exact purpose I have described. So I have rid myself of that worry in order to make room for another worry.

My next worry concerns the green painted, sprawling barracks called Camp McKay, just opposite the Columbia subway station where a handful of forgotten soldiers rattle around like bats in a barn. With a little high-pressure teasing the Army would declare that camp surplus too, and hand it over to Boston for peanuts. With a little renovating it would house several thousand GI families, with access to the nearby beaches and playgrounds. So there is another worry out of the way.

Next I will worry why it is, with all the new timber being cut and the lumber being sawed since V-J Day, the builders of America are not getting the materials which the War Planning Board promised would be plentiful 30 days after Aug. 23, which is five months ago.

Where Our Lumber Goes

I AM GREATLY ASSISTED in this worry by a customer's letter which has just come from the C. W. Chapman Lumber Co. of Waterloo, Iowa, which reads as follows, "Last week the saw mills of the west sold 66,000,000, or enough to build 6600 average sized homes, to foreign countries. That was only one week's sales.

"The OPA has established NO CEILING PRICE on American lumber sold to foreign buyers, while rigidly enforcing such ceiling on domestic purchases. So our saw mills, needing higher prices than allowed in American markets to pay higher production costs, including increased union scales, is selling the lumber that we need so desperately to foreign nations.

"Where do these foreign countries get the money with which to buy this over-ceiling lumber? The answer is YOU TAXPAYERS, through your Congress, either gave it to them or loaned it.

"Every American wants to help every needy human being in this world. But our own returned veterans are being made just as homeless and just as wretched and cold as any foreigner when they are forced to live in ramshackle, tumbledown houses or in the open. So we believe that the Santa Claus bureaucrats should give our own people a fair break first.

"Since the end of the war Federal bureaucrats have tied up with red tape 80,000,000 feet of lumber at one west coast port alone, Port Hueneme, lumber that would build 8000 homes. And this is far from the complete story of what is happening to American lumber in the greatest housing shortage in our history."

See what I mean, by having to do double worry for the politicians who won't worry at all, or if they do, worry in the wrong places and either establish too much control or no control at all. This only tends to increase the burden of worry for somebody else and passes it along to the little tax payers who pay the politicians to do their worrying for them but find that they rarely worry a full wages worth.

So this ends my worry for the day!

Sox Near Peak Strength

By HERB FINNEGAN

The Red Sox national defense list, which numbered 30 during the war has dwindled to five and soon will be reduced to three. Pitcher Bill Butland has arrived on the West Coast from the Philippines and is awaiting his discharge. Third baseman Ken Chapman bay be out before nightfall.

That leaves only pitchers Joe Dobson, Clem Dreisewerd and outfielder Andy Gilbert to be accounted for.

Bill Butland

Butland was the kid sensation of the league in '42. Starting late in the season because of a sore shoulder and the propaganda that he could not get out left-handed batters, he proceeded to win six in a row, all low-hitters, amassed a 7-1 record and a remarkable 2.51 earned run average before entering the service.

He stands 6-5 and his lazy sidearm delivery makes right-handed batters step down third base way. He proved, too, he could get left-handed batters out with equal facility.

Whether he'll be his old self this spring is debatable. Unlike most of the Sox pitchers in the service, he played no baseball. Indeed he was an infantry combat man who took part in the invasion of Leyte and attained the stature of staff sergeant.

But when he does recapture his 1942 form, see what the Sox will have: Tex Hughson, Mickey Harris, Earl Johnson, Charlie Wagner and Dave Ferriss who have earned their spurs; and Mel Deutsch, Larry Powell, Jim Wilson, Pinky Woods, et al, who could help a lot, and relief men like Mike Ryba and Mace Brown.

Chapman is an Mansfield lad who has been in the Navy since starring in the Sox chain at Scranton. He is considered as fine a prospect as was Johnny Pesky four years ago. Whether he has matured enough to beat out Jim Tabor and Ernie Andres for the far turn is problematical. But it is cheering to hear that he will be along with Eddie Pellagrini to represent Greater Boston in the Boston Red Sox camp.

Before taking off for his New Orleans home, second baseman Connie Ryan applied for re-instatement and agreed to terms with the Braves for the 1946 season. All players on the national defense list must apply for re-instatement . . . After a month in Boston, Joe Dobson is driving back to the West Coast to report for further Army duty . . . Mel Deutsch, 6-4 right-handed pitcher whom the Sox like, won 14, lost 11 for Louisville in '44, had an ERA of 2.47.

CANCEL SNOW TRAIN

The Sunday snow train of the Boston & Maine R. R. was cancelled because of weather conditions today when word was received from North Conway, N. H., that the skiing conditions there are poor.

Ferriss Hopes He Can Make Sox

MEMPHIS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Dave Ferriss, who as a rookie pitcher won 21 games for the Red Sox last year, looked over the imposing mound roster today and said: "I hope I can make the team."

The Shaw, Miss., righthander said Boston would have one of the American League's top pitching staffs and added that it would be hard to crack.

"There'll be Tex Hughson, Charley Wagner, Mickey Harris, Earl Johnson, Jim Bagby and others," he said. "We'll have some team."

Record Entry For Ice Derby

Although entries closed at midnight yesterday, it will still be a day or two before the total count will be available on the number of contestants who will take part in the 11th annual Silver Skates Derby at the Boston Garden a week from Sunday.

The figure has already hit 400 and the chances are that there will be close to 500 in all when the last maid is checked.

With this tremendous entry field plus the finest amateur and professional figure skating talent available rounding out the card, this Derby starts to loom up as a winter spectacle that may even top last year's affair which was considered the last word.

Interest in this 1946 edition is greater than ever from the calls to this office for the purchase of tickets.

Plenty of Seats

There are still plenty of good seats available for the Silver Skates Derby at the Garden a week from Sunday. They are popular priced at $1, 50c and 35c (tax included).

Tickets may be secured at the Garden, Arena or James W. Brine Sporting Goods Store at 92 Summer st.

Rugged Falcons Play Olympics

The Philadelphia Falcons, boasting a better "against-Boston" record than any other outfit in the Eastern League, will be the guests of the Olympics at the Garden tonight. The two rivals will complete their short series tomorrow night.

Tonight's visitors have three times defeated the Pics, while tasting defeat on four occasions.

Middlebury Ski Meet to Be Held

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Despite the recent thaw and shortage of snow, the intercollegiate ski meet of the 15th annual Middlebury College Winter Carnival, Middlebury, Vt., will be contested this week-end! Two-hundred-and-fifty ambitious students have hauled and packed snow for downhill, slalom, and cross country races on Bread Loaf Mountain, in addition to trucking 100 tons of the heavenly tapioca a distance of 12 miles, from Bread Loaf to the 30-meter jump in town. You can't stop skiers!

The Fair Sex on skis will open the meet today, when flying femmes from McGill, Mt. Holyoke, Syracuse, Skidmore, New Hampshire, Vermont, Vassar, St. Lawrence and Middlebury will flicker through the flags in downhill and slalom races

St. Lawrence has entered a team in the men's meet, boosting the number of colleges participating to a total of 10, including Dartmouth, Vermont, New Hampshire, Amherst, Tufts, Williams, Rensselaer Poly Tech, West Point, and Middlebury.

Rindge, Arlington Head School Card

By MIKE GILLOOLY

If it holds true that a good offense is the best defense in hockey as well as in any other sport, Rindge Tech's flying hockey team has little to worry about as it steps into Arlington's second place outfit in the feature of the Greater Boston League session at the Garden tomorrow afternoon.

The clash, along with the "pay-off" game between Waltham and Needham at the Arena in the Bay State meeting, will headline Saturday's schoolboy sports programs.

Coach Bill Mahony of Rindge Tech claimed to be worrying about the set-up of his defenses for this Arlington game. It's possible that defenseman Ed Mailloux, removed to the Cambridge City Hospital last Saturday with a split above his right ear, will not be able to play. Mailloux, X-rayed Sunday, still has not been released.

In such a case, Coach Mahony will shift Ed Rooney from second line center to a starting defense berth, teaming up with Pete Messuri in front of the capable Ray Picard.

Len Gagnon and Dick Briand give Rindge the best punch that schoolboy hockey ranks have known in a long time. They'll work with the energetic Al Robichaud on the first line—possibly for the greater part of this game.

Arlington's Don Sennett and Bill Coveney are just a step behind the speedy Rindge fliers in the race for singular honors but they'll have to pick up pace to keep up with the Technicians. The pair will team with Jim MacCutcheon on the starting Arlington line.

At the Arena, the Bay Staters will wind up their regulation schedule in a battle between Waltham and Needham. The Watch City outfit fell out of a first place deadlock last week as B. C. High silenced the big Waltham scorers to a 1-1 tie. Waltham will have to win this one to finish on top.

Needham's chances of taking the crown will depend on how well Wilf Roman and Walt Sabruski, leading scorers, can hold up against the twin Waltham lines—Dick Stumpf, Jimmie Bell and Irving Haynes on the first and Dick Bartlett, Harry Waterhouse and Dick Dugan on the second.

Graziano Slugfest on WCOP Tonight

New York's mauling madman, Rocky Graziano (above) and power-punching George "Sonny" Horne of Long Island have it out at Madison Square Garden tonight! This promising middleweight punchfest is scheduled to go ten rounds—but may not!

In five appearances at the famous Cauliflower Garden, Rocky-a-bye Rocky has registered five spectacular kayos, a record few have equalled in Garden history! He's a savage slasher with a jaw-breaking right.

Horne, however, can absorb plenty of punishment without showing it. He's fast, cagey, shifty and enjoys a distinct advantage over Graziano in boxing skill. The beak-busting trade looks for a blistering battle.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WCOP (1150 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

And remember, men . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

Pat Brady Is to Battle Vazzo at Arena Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

DENNIS (PAT) BRADY, New York featherweight who has scored a long list of kayo victories, will shoot for the fistic heights when he clashes with Vinnie Vazzo of Revere in a 10-round bout at a Sharkey A. A. show at the Arena tonight. If Brady wins over Vazzo he will be in line for Boston bouts with some of the leading featherweights in the country.

While Brady's home is in New York, he has done most of his boxing in Hartford, Ct. rings. He is a stand-out attraction in Hartford.

Pat Brady

Brady relies upon a crushing punch to win. He is a good boxer but when the big chips are down Brady makes his bid with his powerful wallop.

Vazzo has won most of his bouts. One of his most stirring battles was against Jepson Arnold, brother of Billy Arnold, who outpointed him by a small margin in a bout in Philadelphia.

The semi-final of eight rounds will bring together Dave Andrews of Lowell, former All-America champion and Fred Polowitzer of Hartford.

There will be two six round prelims. Harold Christensen of Hyde Park, who starred as an amateur, will oppose Eddie Rossi of Everett, while Billy Napper of Boston will clash with Johnny Wood of Dorchester.

There will be a four rounder in which Frankie Waters of the North End will have Leon Jackson of Woonsocket as an opponent.

Arena Card

MAIN EVENT (10 ROUNDS)
Dennis (Pat) Brady (New York) vs. Vinnie Vazzo (Revere).

SEMI-FINAL (8 ROUNDS)
Dave Andrews (Lowell) vs. Fred Polowitzer (Hartford).

PRELIMINARIES (6 ROUNDS)
Harold Christensen (Hyde Park) vs. Eddie Rossi (Everett).

Billy Napper (Boston) vs. Johnny Wood (Dorchester).

(4 ROUNDS)
Frankie Waters (North End) vs. Leon Jackson (Dorchester).

Joey LaMotta Signed

JOEY LaMOTTA of the Bronx younger brother of Jake LaMotta, has been signed to meet Joe Blackwood of Newark in one of the four ten-round bouts that the Goodwin A. C. will stage at the Garden on next Friday night.

Joey LaMotta has shown here before and the fans were impressed by his aggressiveness and punching power.

Lou Woods of Detroit will tackle George "Wildcat" Henry in another ten. It is expected that the balance of the card will be closed today.

AL ROTHENBERG made a trip from Los Angeles to visit his mother who is ill . . . Al found his mother in improved health . . . While here, Rothenberg attended the Priest-Zivic bout at the Garden and he says Al would prove a great attraction in Californian rings . . . Al brought greetings from California from Tommy Farmer and Johnny Rogers.

Jim Jeffries, said Rothenberg, is conducting a successful amateur boxing club . . . The American Legion at Hollywood continues to sell out each week with its large attendance of celebrities . . . Al expects to be back East in June to see the Joe Louis-Billy Conn bout in New York.

Joe Conway, who organized the syndicate that purchased the Braves from Charley Adams, still retains all of his interest in baseball despite the fact he sold the club to its present owners . . . Joe says he expects to go to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., next month to see the Braves in spring practice.

"Baseball and all sports will have a big year," said Conway . . . "The Red Sox will be particularly strong with Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr, Johnny Pesky, Tex Hughson and other stars back from service . . . The Braves will have Max West, Fernandez, McCarthy, Sisti and other players on the job again . . . You may be sure Billy Southworth will get the most possible out of available material and that he will put through deals to strengthen the club."

Bruins Move Up To 3d With Win

By the Associated Press

The National Hockey League's four-way traffic jam was snarled more tightly than ever today as the Boston Bruins moved into third place on the strength of their third straight victory.

The rebounding Bruins battered the New York Rangers, 4-2, last night before 14,826 fans in Madison Square Garden after having defeated the Rangers, 3-2, Wednesday night in Boston and the Chicago Black Hawks, 4-3, last Sunday.

The Bruins fashioned a 3-0 lead in the first two periods on goals by Milt Schmidt, Don Gallinger and Jack Crawford and went on to win handily.

The victory hoisted Boston past Detroit within a single point of the Black Hawks and the Montreal Canadiens, who share the lead with 33 points. Boston is one point ahead of the Red Wings and thus only two points separate the four leaders.

Curley Jury Disagreement Seen as Deadlock Holds

Four Alarms

Four firemen were injured and scores of families alerted when this 4-alarm fire at Broadway and C st., South Boston, threatened to spread through the area early this morning. Confined to the Congress Hall building, the fire caused damage estimated at $25,000.

Hard to Convince

The refusal of this striker to adhere to a police dispersal order at the US Motors plant in Los Angeles caused him to leave the picket line the hard way. He is being impressed by the gas masked officers.
